COMMITTEE REPORTS ON
BERESFORD'S ALLEGATIONS

Practically Exonerates Admiralty—Finds There Was Lack of Harmony.

(Times Leased Wire.)
London, Aug. 14.—The committee which was appointed to investigate the recent criticisms made by Admiral Lord Charles Beresford on the state of the navy, has issued its report. It practically exonerates the admiralty of Admiral Beresford's charges of having endangered the country by the unwise organization and distribution of the fleet, but finds that both the admiralty and Admiral Beresford are blameable for the inharmonious co-operation.

NEW WAGE SCALE.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—It is expected that a new wage scale for street car employees that will prevent a strike during the next three and a half years will be signed to-night.

USE OF BRIDGE WAS OFFERED

E. & N. MAKES PROPOSAL
FOR TEMPORARY USE

Supt. Beasley Explains How Access Can Be Had by Public.

It is not unlikely that an amicable arrangement will be reached between the city and the E. & N. regarding the use of the bridge by the public pending the settlement of the question by the railway commission.

At last night's meeting of the streets committee Superintendent H. E. Beasley was present and made a suggestion, following up one made by the solicitor of the company, J. E. McMullen, Vancouver. Mr. Beasley stated that the company has a right-of-way at the foot of Johnson street and would be willing to let the city have three feet for a walk, from which access could be had to the bridge; a footway could be raised off across it and at the reserve, and a way could be laid under the trestle to the old Craigflower road.

Ald. Henderson asked what objection there could be to pedestrians passing along by the side of the station as they have always done?

"For the simple reason that they are trespassers and liable to get hurt on the tracks," replied Supt. Beasley.

Ald. Mable inquired if the company would pay part of the cost.

Supt. Beasley smiled in deprecation.

RAILWAY PARTY IS MAKING STAY HERE

Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, C. M. Hays and Other
Officials of G. T. P. are Spending Week End in Victoria.

For the present week-end Victoria has among her visitors a most distinguished party of transportation men. These are the G. T. P. officials, who are touring the West and will spend a few days here before leaving for Vancouver and Prince Rupert. Sir Charles Wilson, a well known financier of London, Eng., who for many years has been president of the Grand Trunk, and Charles Hays, president of the G. T. P., are at the head of the party. In the railway world both men rank among the foremost. The intimate connection between the G. T. and the G. T. P. is such that Sir Charles has represented the old country interests on the great transcontinental road now under construction.

Sir Charles has held very important positions under the British government. Since he assumed the presidency of the Grand Trunk in 1885 there has been decided changes for the better in the management throughout.

On the American continent Mr. Hays is recognized as one of the ablest of the railway managers. The construction of the G. T. P. has borne out his claim to distinction.

The work on this great undertaking, which is destined to play such an important part in the history of Canada, has been pushed forward under the present management with wonderful expedition. It was not until about 1896 that work was commenced, and although only three years have passed advanced that the visitors expect to travel all the way from Edmonton to Port William on their own time on the way back east. ## CONSERVATION FIGHT WILL BE RENEUED

Controversy Between Secretary Ballinger and Pinchot
Not Yet Settled.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Spokane, Wash., Aug. 14.—Having completed the stormiest series of sessions in the history of the organization, the delegates to the National Irrigation Congress are leaving for their homes to-day, leaving the controversy between Secretary of the Interior Ballinger and Chief Forester Pinchot to come up again at the conservation congress which will be held in Seattle the week after next. It also is probable that the matter will be mentioned in some form at the trans-Mississippi congress to be held in Denver next week.

One of the many features of the congress just closed was the adoption of a series of resolutions commending Chief Forester Pinchot and F. H. Newell, director of the reclamation service. Pinchot was championed chiefly by ex-Governor Pardee, of California, and Pardee and his friends took upon the work of the resolutions committee as a victory for the chief forester.

It is expected that the fight over what Pinchot termed the "Roosevelt policies" in connection with the public lands and the conservation of water power sites will be heard from in the coming conventions.

Investigation Probable.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—The Washington Post to-day predicts that a congressional investigation of the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy will follow the publication of differences between the secretary of the interior and the chief forester.

NOTE BROKER THREATENS TO MAKE REVELATIONS

Man Accused of Robbing
Heinze Says He Was Promised Protection.

(Times Leased Wire.)
New York, Aug. 14.—Revelations which will shake the New York financial district are promised by Donald Persch, the note broker who is under arrest here on the charge of robbing F. Augustus Heinze, unless he is released from the Tombs on Monday.

When arrested Persch declared that he was merely the tool of big interests. He said he had been promised protection and also had been told that he would receive $10,000 when set free. So far he has received no aid in his attempts to get $50,000 bail, and his disappointment led him to issue the threat to-day.

CRUISERS FOR SEATTLE.

DYNAMITE EXPLOSION DESTROYS BUILDING

Mixer and Helper Killed, Former Being Blown to Pieces.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Gary, Ind., Aug. 14.—Two workmen are dead as a result of a terrific dynamite explosion in the works of the Aetna Powder Company at Aetna, Ind. One building owned by the Aetna company was destroyed and others badly damaged. Dozens of windows in the town were shattered.

The accident occurred late yesterday. Jos. M. Kohda, 37 years of age, a head mixer, who was in charge of the building, and Michael McCarthy, his helper, were killed. Kohda was blown literally to pieces. A search for his body resulted in the discovery of a few shreds of flesh and cloth and two metal buttons.

Four hundred employees, who were at work in other buildings, were thrown into a panic by the explosion. They could not be induced to return to work for more than an hour. The cause of the accident is unknown.

BANKER WILL GIVE HIMSELF UP TO POLICE

Lawyer Contends New Law
Regarding Overdrafts is Defective.

(Times Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 14.—The detectives are searching for Wm. Hays, vice-president and manager of the closed Union States Savings and Commercial Bank, who has been in hiding for two days since the issuance of a warrant charging him with felony. It is said that Hays will give himself up to-day, as he has found bondsmen who will stand good for his appearance in court when the case is called.

While the officers were searching yesterday Hays telephoned his wife from his place of concealment and told her to visit certain men in an effort to get them to go on his bond. With the list Mrs. Hays passed the entire day attempting to get his friends' assent, without success.

Attorney Jordan, Hays' lawyer, stated to-day that he believes the new banking law regarding overdrafts on the part of bank officials is defective and that he will be able to free the accused banker from the charges.

NO LIMIT TO THE WATER SUPPLY

EMPRESS HOTEL CAN USE ANY QUANTITY

Ald. Stewart Thinks There is Something Peculiar About This.

It will be news to citizens that there is no limit to the amount of water which the Empress hotel can use. It has free water for fifteen years from its opening, and there has been an impression among aldermen as well as the public generally that the amount was limited to fifteen thousand gallons a day free.

It was this which led Ald. Fullerton last evening to suggest again that a meter should be put on so that the city might collect rates for whatever was used in excess. He was surprised to learn that there was no limit in the agreement.

"I was in the council then," said Ald. Stewart, "and I distinctly remember asking Mr. Raymond how much water he thought would be fair. He said 15,000 gallons daily. I said to insert that in the agreement and I was under the impression it was in the by-law until two weeks ago. I cannot account for the omission and no one can be more surprised than I am, because of my taking it up at the time with Mr. Raymond. I saw the original and I am of opinion there was something funny done about it."

Ald. Raymond said that at the time it was stated in the papers that there was this limit.

"I do not know how it was kept out," Ald. Stewart added. "I remember it just as distinctly as if it had happened this minute and I understood in the council chamber that it should be in."

Mayor Hall, who was not in the council at the time, said he also had got the opinion that there was a limit from the press reports of the day.

"This was all that was said about the matter."

Killed in Fight.

MAN KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT IN SEATTLE

Victim Crushed to Death
When Machine Turns
Turtle.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Seattle, Wash., Aug. 14.—Wendell A. Odum, a real estate salesman, who recently came here from North Adams, Mich., where his relatives live, is dead to-day of injuries which he received in an automobile accident late yesterday when the machine turned turtle.

The auto, which was in charge of Chaffeur Edward Koepfel, was ascending a steep hill on Fifth avenue when the engine suddenly stopped and the car started to rush back down the grade. Koepfel jumped, but Odum remained in his seat and was crushed beneath the heavy machine when it struck the curb and turned over.

FINDS SON'S BODY IN MORGUE

Lad Thrown and Dragged in Stirrups
by Running Horse.

Salem, Ore., Aug. 14.—Walter W. Johnson, a resident of this city, interested by curiosity along with several other persons, walked into the morgue late last night to be met by a view of the mangled body of his 15-year-old son, Ralph, lying on the slab before him. The lad had been picked up in the suburbs, and the body was so mutilated and disfigured from having been thrown and dragged in the stirrups by a horse that it was unrecognizable. The authorities had been unable to identify the body until the father saw it unexpectedly in the coroner's establishment.

SUTTON INQUIRY.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 14.—A secret session of the court of inquiry, which has been sitting to inquire into the death of Lieut. Sutton, began this morning. The work on this great undertaking, which is destined to play such an important part in the history of Canada, has been pushed forward under the present management with wonderful expedition. has very pronounced views respecting the question of a railway to Bute Inlet and has the figures to back up his stand. He is in a position to show that that section of the mainland adjacent to Bute Inlet on the mainland, together with the northern portion of Vancouver Island, is the area from which the bulk of the merchantable timber of British Columbia has to be taken. A railway to Bute Inlet would therefore tap the centre of that trade.

Sir Charles, Mr. Hays and party will make their headquarters at the Empress hotel during the stay in the city.

GRAFT AND BLACKMAIL IN NEW YORK CITY

Former Police Commissioner
Says Hundred Million Change
Hands Annually.

(Times Leased Wire.)
New York, Aug. 14.—"If I had been dishonest I could easily have made a million dollars annually," declared General Theodore Bingham, former commissioner of police of New York city, in an article in Hampton's Broadway Magazine, out to-day. He charges that one hundred million dollars in graft and blackmail changes hands annually in New York city, and alleges that Tammany is responsible for it. He asserts that "a crooked, supine and incompetent judiciary is what is the matter with New York."

Bingham declares that he was once offered $5,000 cash and $500 per month, just to be seen shaking hands with the proprietor of a down-town cafe, who wanted to use the "acquaintance" to convince people that he had police protection.

"ALL COAST" LEAGUE.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 14.—The local Northwestern team makes more money on its Northern trips in eight weeks than the Portland Coast Leaguers do when they play in the Southern cities for nine weeks. All of which was news to Frank M. Ish, the principal backer of the Pacific Coast League, and which may go far to cause the organization of an "All-Coast" League for the coming season.

Mr. Ish is now in the Northwest, where he is investigating for himself the figures supplied him by Judge McCredie, and it is believed he will come back firmly convinced that an eight-club Pacific Coast League will be winner, and that he will be ready to back it when the question comes up at the end of the season.

G. T. P. MUST HAVE STEAMERS

OFFICIALS ARE NOW
CONSIDERING QUESTION

Party Representing Great Corporation Reached Here This Afternoon.

Always affable and free to give information, Charles M. Hays, president of the G. T. P., upon his arrival here this afternoon announced that the question of a steamship line to connect Prince Rupert and Victoria and Vancouver was receiving the attention of the company at the present time.
"It is an absolute necessity," he said, "but pending further consideration by the officials nothing definite could yet be announced."

The G. T. P. party reached Victoria on the Princess Victoria. The trip across charmed the party, including Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, the president of the Grand Trunk, who, with Lady Wilson were delighted with the voyage from Seattle, and their first impressions of Victoria are the most favorable. Until he has had time to look over the local situation, Sir Charles preferred not to say anything.

Mr. Hays says the present trip is one of inspection. It has had for its object the affording of an opportunity to Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson to take in the whole situation. Coming by way of Chicago and St. Paul, the party met J. J. Hill, when the question was raised of terminal facilities in Vancouver. This will be gone into more fully next week in Vancouver, when the G. T. P. officials will meet Mr. Gilman and Mr. Elliott, representing the Great Northern and Northern Pacific respectively, when the proposition of joint terminals for the lines will be considered more fully.

With respect to the connection with other points outside of Prince Rupert, Mr. Hays says parties are in the field going into the question of a route to Vancouver. The company will have to have connection with the southern points on the coast immediately following the completion of the line to Prince Rupert and this is receiving attention now. Steamship connection with Victoria and the other points will have to come first and this is being fully gone into now.

The party will remain in Victoria until Tuesday when they leave for Seattle. Those who arrived from Seattle were, Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson and Lady Rivers-Wilson, Charles M. Hays, E. H. Fitzgibbon, third vice-president of the Grand Trunk railway; H. Deer, of London, assistant secretary of the Grand Trunk Pacific road; Dr. J. Hutchins, chief medical director; W. E. Davis, passenger traffic manager; G. A. McNeill, purchasing agent; G. T. P. on coast; W. M. Wood; W. P. Huston; J. Coleman, superintendent car department; D. E. Galloway; Miss Evelyn Hutton, of London; Miss C. Hays and Miss Jean Adams, of New York.
The party will be supplemented on Monday by E. J. Chamberlin, general manager, and some other officials who will come with him. They will join the main party here.
On Monday, Mr. Hays will meet the railway committee of the board of trade, when questions affecting the city and Vancouver Island as a whole will be gone into.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Aug. 14.—Local members of the Hop Sing Tong, aroused by the failure of a coroner's jury to hold P. H. Robinson guilty for the death of Leo Luen, whom he ran down in an automobile, have appealed to the powerful Six Companies of San Francisco to take action in the matter.
Leo Luen, who was formerly a cook in the employ of Admiral McCalla, was killed by Robinson's machine. The Chinese stepped off a street car directly into the path of the automobile and the jury freed the chauffeur of blame.

Yesterday a petition to the Six Companies was circulated among local Chinese and forwarded to San Francisco. A similar petition asking the San Francisco organizations to aid in prosecuting Robinson was drawn in Los Angeles and several hundred signatures secured. The Chinese have engaged counsel.

When the eyes see dimly the person's mind works slowly. Indistinct images reach the brain to produce collision and irritation of the cells; permanent impressions are with difficulty secured; the person is kept back by his eyesight.
When the eyes are clear the mind works easily.
Clear images travel to the brain and in its myriad cells produce the responsive action essential to effective observation—the brain progresses.

VAST ARMY FOR BRITISH EMPIRE

WILL INCLUDE FORCES OF OVERSEAS DOMINIONS

General French Will Visit Canada in Connection With Plan.

London, Aug. 14.—A great home-grown imperial British army, uniformly trained and equipped, is to be the outcome of the imperial conference on the naval and military defences of the empire held at the foreign office recently. In general terms, the plan provides that all the troops of the self-governing colonies shall undergo precisely the same training as the home regulars, in order to be able to take their places beside the latter whenever and wherever necessity may arise.

Military training colleges along the lines of the staff colleges at Camberley are to be established in the overseas dominions, and there is to be a continuous interchange of officers from all parts of the empire, so as to insure absolute uniformity of organization and training.

In a recent speech outlining the probable strength of the army of the empire, War Secretary Haldane estimated that the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa could furnish a total of forty-six divisions. This is equivalent to twenty-three army corps, which is the strength of the German army.

Gen. French's Mission.

Bradford, Eng., Aug. 14.—In a speech here last night, Secretary for War Haldane expressed the greatest satisfaction that the imperial conference on the naval and military defences of the empire had arrived at an agreement. He announced that while Lord Kitchener, the newly appointed inspector-general of the Mediterranean forces, was in Australia, General French, commander of the first army corps, was going to Canada to work out the details of the plan there.

YOUNG AUTO SCORCHERS.

Judge Orders Them to Give Up Cars For Year.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 14.—Judge Wilbur, of the juvenile court, claims at last to have found a way to stop indiscriminate motor cycle speeding within the limits of the city.

When A. M. Haas and Donald Whisell, two 16-year-old boys, were brought before Judge Wilbur, who meted out punishment that is likely to exercise a restraining influence on other speed maniacs. The lads were sentenced to give up their motors for a year. Until that time has elapsed they may not throw a clutch nor open a throttle on their machines.

"I know the American habit of disobeying laws, especially when no one is looking," said the judge in giving his decision, "but speeding has caused too many deaths here of late to pass lightly over proved offences. You boys must give up your pleasure rides for one year from this date."

SCALDED TO DEATH.

Elkhart, Ind., Aug. 14.—One workman was killed outright, one fatally scalded and a score was seriously burned when a washout plug of a locomotive blew out in the round-house here yesterday.

The engine had just been run into the sheds and the round-house crew was standing nearby when the plug blew out and the superheated steam enveloped the men.

TO THE MOTHERS OF PALE GIRLS

A Case Showing How the Tonic Treatment Restores Lost Health.

Anemia is simply lack of blood. It is one of the most common and at the same time most dangerous diseases with which growing girls suffer. It is common because the blood so often becomes impoverished during development, when girls often overstudy, over-work and suffer from lack of exercise. It is dangerous because of the stealthiness of its approach, because of its tendency to grow so steadily worse, if not promptly checked, that it may run into consumption. Every growing girl should take an occasional tonic to ward off the insidious trouble; and in all the world there is no tonic that can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every dose of this medicine helps to make new, rich blood, which promptly makes weak, pale, listless girls bright, rosy and strong. Miss A. M. Dugay, Lower Cove, N. S., says: "I believe I owe my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My blood seemed to have turned to water. I was pale as a sheet; I suffered from headaches, and floating specks seemed to be constantly before my eyes. As the trouble progressed my limbs began to swell, and it was feared that dropsy had set in and that my case was hopeless. Up to this time two doctors had attended me, but notwithstanding I kept growing worse. It was at this juncture I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking a few boxes I was much improved. I kept on using the pills until I had taken eight boxes, when my health was completely restored."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure cases like this because they go to the root of the trouble in the blood. That is why they cure rheumatism and indigestion, nervous headaches and racking neuralgia, and all those troubles from which growing girls and women of mature years so often suffer in hopeless silence. If Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are given a fair trial they will not disappoint you. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A GRAND KIDNEY MEDICINE

"Fruit-a-tives" Cured Him When Everything Else Failed.

Uverton, Que., March 17th, 1908. I wish to place on record, for the sake of others who may be suffering in the same way that I suffered, that the medicine I ever took did me so much real good as "Fruit-a-tives" did. I suffered for many years with Kidney Trouble, with bad pain in the back. I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and did so—and this medicine cured me when everything else failed.

I used altogether fifteen boxes of "Fruit-a-tives," and from the outset they gave me relief and I am now practically well again; no pain, no distress, and all symptoms of kidney disease have entirely left me. I am very thankful to be once more well, and I freely make this statement for the sake of others who may suffer as I did. To them, I say try "Fruit-a-tives," as they are a grand kidney medicine.

CLARENCE J. PLACEY. Fifty cents a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

OFFICERS ELECTED AT IRRIGATION CONGRESS

B. A. Fowler, New President—Forest and Reclamation Service Praised.

(By Samuel M. Evans.)

Spokane, Aug. 14.—B. A. Fowler, of Arizona, was elected president of the National Irrigation Congress yesterday. Pueblo, Colo., was chosen by the delegates for the next meeting place of the organization. The following officers also were elected: Ralph E. Twitchell, New Mexico; first vice-president; W. Young, Utah, second vice-president; L. Newman, Montana, third vice-president; A. W. Fleming, Missouri, fourth vice-president; E. J. Watson, South Carolina, fifth vice-president; Arthur E. Hooker, Spokane, secretary.

The elections were made without opposition. Resolutions were adopted recommending a $10,000,000 five-year water bond reclamation fund, endorsing the forest and reclamation services as honest and earnest in the interest of the small settler and denying the right to grant water franchises in perpetuity.

CAMERA AT A COUNCIL.

Member Elected by Borough Beadles After Stormy Scene.

A member who persisted in taking photographs during the sitting of the Paddington borough council was expelled.

At the commencement of the meeting the Mayor observed that Councillor Waycott was snatching fellow members and asked him to desist, as his conduct was contrary to the by-laws and was an act of disorder.

"I am going to take photographs to-day, to-morrow, or any other day if I think fit," said the councillor, and went on focusing his camera.

The Mayor—I ask you, Mr. Waycott, to leave the council chamber to-day. Councillor Waycott—I shall leave only by force and bloodshed. I have committed no breach of law, propriety, or any standing order of council.

After a prolonged struggle, during which the councillor removed his seat, he was carried bodily out of the council chamber. Later he took his seat in the public gallery.

SEVERELY BRUNED.

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—Early yesterday afternoon a somewhat serious accident occurred in the rear of 863 Hamilton street to Charles E. Robertson, who has been boarding there. Mr. Robertson was known to do some experimenting in the rear shed, having apparatus there in which to melt metals, etc. The assumption is that while he was engaged in experimenting there was an explosion, the force of which had affected his face. He had evidently sought to get out by the window, and in doing so cut his face and throat severely. Then he had fallen back inside, and afterwards renewed his struggles and got out by the door of the shed. When discovered by the occupants of the house he was lying apparently in much pain. He was removed in an ambulance to the general hospital where his injuries were attended to.

DIES FROM INJURIES.

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—William Burroughs, a logger, who had both legs cut off by a switch engine, died in the general hospital yesterday.

DIRECTORS ARE ACCUSED OF FRAUD

Sensational Charges in Connection With Puget Sound Realty Association.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 14.—Sensational charges of fraud, mismanagement, unlawful collection of commissions by the directors, and numerous other alleged illegal acts are made in an application filed in the Superior court of King county yesterday for a receiver for the Puget Sound Realty Association, one of the largest so-called unit ownership concerns in the state of Washington.

The action is brought by H. M. Frost and other bond and contract holders against the concern, the board of directors, headed by former Governor John H. McGraw as president, and other prominent men of Seattle, who constitute the board.

Besides the allegations of fraud and failure to account for some $40,000 of the trust funds held for investment by the directors, the allegation is made that in the disposal of bonds and contracts in the concern without the consent of the other bondholders, special preference was shown to a few bondholders, whereby rebates or refunds were made to those specially selected. It is asserted that these special bonds were secretly given to influential persons, and the undersigned that they would write letters or otherwise use their influence to induce others to invest in bonds or contracts with the concern.

The Puget Sound Realty Association is one of the most widely advertised and best known companies that have sprung up here in the last few years. There are more than 4,000 bond contract holders throughout the state, and in all the funds of the company something more than $800,000 is said to have been paid in by the small investors.

NEGRO LYNCHED.

Greenville, Miss., Aug. 14.—The body of Will Robinson, a negro, was found hanging to a tree yesterday in a swamp just outside the limits of the town.

It is believed that the man was lynched by a white mob. He was recently acquitted on a charge of insulting a white girl. Persons living in the vicinity where the supposed lynching occurred deny all knowledge of the presence of a mob Thursday night, and declare they heard no sounds from the swamp during the night. The body had been hanging but a few hours when discovered.

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE ATTACKS NEW TARIFF

Declares Cost of Articles in Common Use Will Be Increased.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 14.—The new tariff and Speaker Cannon are both attacked by Senator La Follette in his Weekly.

The editorial declares that the president in the campaign last fall promised a downward revision.

"The kind of revision demanded, promised and decreed at the polls was not even partially complied with," the article says. "In so far as the price of any article in common use is effected by the rates under the Payne-Aldrich law, the cost will be increased to the consumer."

Another editorial, under the caption, "Cannon's Revenge," says: "By relegating the republican congressmen, who had the temerity to question his divine right to rule, to unimportant committees, Cannon may be laboring under the delusion that he can awe into submission their constituents."

Continuing, it says: "He took revenge, but went a long way toward his downfall, demonstrating how little representation the citizen is permitted to have in congress."

THE WATER QUESTION.

Mr. A. J. Morley has discovered several technical flaws in the by-law now before the people for the expropriation of the works of the Esquimalt Water Company. Our correspondent says the by-law may be set aside by the courts and that all the money appropriated for the acquisition of the property may be used up in the process of expropriation. On the other hand it is claimed that if the city undertakes to enter the property of the company for the purpose of digging a hole through the mountains to Sooke Lake it is sure to be confronted with an injunction against trespass. So it appears that whichever way the city

AN INFLUENCE FOR PEACE.

The Imperial Defence Conference has reached a complete and satisfactory understanding in regard to a naval and military programme for the whole of the Empire. None of the details have been made public. They will probably be manifest only in process of elaboration. But it is announced that the plan involves, on its military side, a great homogeneous Imperial army, uniformly trained and equipped, which will probably in proportions equal the forces of the German army. There will be a system of regular exchange of officers, "so as to insure uniformity of organization and training." The naval defence organization will doubtless be analogous in its nature to the military side of the programme. We shall doubtless have an outline of it within a short time, and it will be awaited with a considerable degree of interest in this maritime section of Canada. We believe it is well not only for the British Empire, but for the world at large, that a complete and harmonious agreement has been reached by the defence committees. It reached by the defence committees. It will prove a great influence for the maintenance of peace. The idea that the Mother Country is an isolated part of a great, cumbersome and unwieldy Imperial fabric, weak and preponderant because of its very extent and wealth, will now be completely dispelled. All nations must now realize that it is no longer a United Kingdom, but a United Empire of illimitable wealth and resources, which must be reckoned with in the disposition of affairs of international moment. It is not at all likely that the actual strength of the structure will ever be put to a serious test. With every year that passes, marking an access to the forces and sentiments of civilization, the idea of war becomes more repugnant to the popular mind and statesmen become more sensitive to their responsibilities. Nation cannot be set against nation at the word of male despot suffering from encephalitis on the whim of a female monarch anxious to add to the splendor of the bangles she wears upon her head. In the words of the colored preacher, "the world do move." And yet there is room, and may be opportunities, for the exercise of an influence for peace which will not be lessened by knowledge that it possesses the power to maintain its position, and also to enforce its will if necessary.

In the meantime we can tell our correspondent what will happen should he and others who share his views succeed in defeating the expropriation by law either at the polls or by raising technical points in the courts. The city will be eventually forced to do the very thing the Esquimalt Water Works Company has had in view from the first day of its corporate existence: to buy water by the gallon from the company. The city's extremity will prove the company's opportunity.

SOME OTHER WATER QUESTIONS.

It is a sure sign that the good or evil genius who watches over our civic affairs has important business on his hands when Mr. A. J. Morley and Mr. Phil R. Smith simultaneously take up their facile pens and write letters to the newspapers. Mr. Smith asks the Times a number of questions in his interesting communication, most of which we confess our inability to answer. But the point of the questions is obvious. It is to suggest that the particular portion of the Esquimalt Water Works Company's property situated in Victoria West, which of course will be acquired by the city if expropriation takes place, is of little value—that it will all have to be renewed in the near future in order to meet the requirements of water consumers of the western section of the city. Obviously, it would be impossible for a newspaper, or any other institution or person lacking authority, to find out the things Mr. Smith wants to know, but an expropriation tribunal would not be under any such disabilities. It would proceed under the authority conferred upon it by the legislature. It would have access to all the books, documents and property of the company. By a careful examination of such books, documents and property it would be in a position to estimate approximately at least the actual value of the company's property, and we have no doubt, being sworn to deal fairly and honorably by both parties to the proceedings, it would not place a value on the water works system existing in Victoria West which could not be justified. That assumption clears away the greater part of the cloud of dust Mr. Smith raises in his letter.

Our correspondent, in the last paragraph of his communication, inquires whether the water collected by the Esquimalt Water Works Company rises from springs or is gathered from the clouds. The question indicates an obsession in the mind of Mr. Smith which is not uncommon in the minds of other persons. A great number of people seem to entertain the idea that there is water of an inferior quality which comes from the "windows of heaven," and water of a very superior quality which ascends from some mysterious caverns in the bowels of the earth. As a matter of fact all water fit for human consumption that is not condensed by mechanical processes falls from the clouds. There may be springs fed from distant natural reservoirs, but such basins are supplied by the clouds in the first instance. So that the value of a system of water works anywhere depends not upon springs having their origin in the bowels of the earth, but upon the known extent of its watershed and the estimated average annual precipitation of rain over that watershed. It is no disparagement of the Goldstream system to suggest that it is fed by the clouds and not by springs. The waters of Sooke Lake are also gathered from the surrounding mountains, into the controversy will receive, if necessary, short shrift.

What Other People Think

EXHIBITION SUGGESTIONS.

To the Editor:—As the annual exhibition is near at hand, I would like to suggest that the management take some steps towards protecting the fruit exhibits. Last year I exhibited about a dozen different varieties of fruit, and at least one-half had disappeared on the second and third day, while other exhibits were treated in a like manner, there being no protection whatever.

Can you, Mr. Editor, inform me whose duty it is to fill out the price cards, and why they are never filled out, but appear blank, to be filled out by the owner of the exhibits? If we are to have exhibition of fruit on display it surely is worth protecting, and it is only proper that the price cards should be filled in before being placed on the different exhibits.

DON'T THINK WE CAN.

To the Editor:—As you appear to be in touch with the gentlemen instrumental in placing the by-law for acquiring the holdings of the Esquimalt Water Company before the people, will you kindly obtain for me the following information:

1. What is the gross yearly revenue of the Esquimalt Water Co.?
2. The gross expenditure?
3. Net income?
4. The capacity of the works in water and water power?
5. No. of house connections at present served by the company?
6. No. of houses not served by the company, but entitled to such service?
7. What year was the present system of distribution laid down?
8. What is the percentage of old piping and meters that could be used in a new system of redistribution?
9. The approximate cost of an up-to-date redistribution of piping based upon the probable requirements of the next ten years?
10. Are the reservoirs of the company fed by springs or are they supplied by the rainfall?

ESQUIMALT WATERWORKS EXPROPRIATION BY-LAW.

To the Editor:—Section 75 of the Municipal Clauses Act enacts that "No by-law shall be submitted to the electors which groups together two or more subjects of a distinct purpose, and every by-law must be voted upon separately."

This is further strengthened by subsection 1 of section 81, relating especially to by-laws for the borrowing of money upon security of water or other rates, which calls for "The amount of the debt and the object for which it is intended to be created."

In the by-law to be submitted on the 28th of August to authorize the expropriation of the Esquimalt Co.'s holdings and for the cost of the necessary headworks and pipe line, it is clearly obvious that two distinct subjects of expenditure are coupled together in one by-law, thus making the said by-law unlawful.

Even were this permissible, the by-law in other respects not in conformity with requisite procedure. The two objects of the expropriation and the pipe line are stated in the title and preamble of the by-law, the by-law proceeds from sections 1 to 9 inclusive, one object only is mentioned, viz., the expropriation of the Esquimalt Co.'s holdings, and in section 1 the city council is empowered to borrow and expend the whole sum of $1,250,000 upon that one object.

The manner of the by-law, besides being illegal, is vicious in the extreme, inasmuch as it misleads the ratepayers to suppose that the passing of the by-law is a guarantee of the accomplishment of both objects, while in reality the council may expend the whole amount on the expropriation proceedings, in which case the people would have to vote an additional $200,000 for pipe line.

Again, and herein shines our city legal talent, the by-law is so drawn that if the arbitration proceedings went in favor of the city the Esquimalt Co. would have no difficulty in having the award set aside on the illegality of the by-law.

Another matter in this connection equally vicious is that it should require a 2-3 majority to authorize the borrowing of, say, $10,000 for a park site, while a bare majority will suffice for a debt of $1,250,000, there being in reality no difference either in who pays the debt or the manner how.

PROBABLY A HOAX.

To the Editor:—The short telegram dated New York, 12th August, which appeared in the press about a certain Governor Hughes having climbed Sulphur mountain with a guide in one hour and forty-three minutes is possibly a joke. Most tourists know Sulphur mountain familiarly, but I may say for the information of others that this mountain has a good horse road and an easy grade leading to the summit, where there is a Dominion meteorological station. When selecting the site for this station Mr. Striptart, the late Mr. Fletcher, Mr. Fawcett and I walked up an hour before there was any trail.

There is in the agreement with the Country Club a stipulation that if the track is to be let for racing purposes the Country Club shall have the first right to accept the terms. This, however, does not specify that the club shall have the grounds or that the grounds shall be used for racing purposes.

MRS. BANFIELD APPEALS

TO HIGHER COURT

Certiorari Proceedings Will Be

Taken Against Water

Company.

The last has not been heard of the case of the Esquimalt Waterworks Company against Mrs. Edna Banfield, of Victoria West, who was fined $5 in the police court yesterday morning by Magistrate Jay for interfering with the company's employees when they went to her property to fix a water meter. The matter will go to a higher court.

R. Lowe, solicitor for the defendant, appeared in the police court this morning and paid the $5 fine under protest, at the same time asking the magistrate to issue a writ of certiorari to set aside the company's intention of going to a higher court and of proceedings under certiorari being taken at once.

The defence in the action held that the company had no right to enter defendant's premises without permission to connect the meter. The case was different from the ordinary, in that the water main of the company runs through defendant's property, and the company had been ordered to remove it. In the ordinary way the meter could be fixed just outside the property line, but in this instance the pipe running through the property prevented this course.

Monday and Tuesday the police court magistrate will hear altogether six cases against automobile drivers exceeding the speed limit on the road from the race course.

The council of the board of trade is to meet Monday evening at the E. C. Electric Railway Company on Monday morning to discuss with him the terms of the by-law which citizens will shortly vote upon, relating to the development of ten thousand horse power at Jordan river.

The Victoria Gun Club will hold a shoot at their grounds at Florence Lake to-morrow. There will be three shoots for the Dupont trophy and one 50-bird shoot for the Noebel watch fob. The shoot for the Curtis and Harvey cup will be held at the grounds August 29th, also the shoot for the Weller cup.

"Wood is better than granite, blithely or any of your fancy pavements being advocated now," said Ald. Henderson. He added that in time wood blocks would be used altogether, and in regard to the particular case in question he asserted that there was very little grade on Government street near the brewery.

Mayor Hall put the blame for horses falling on wood block pavement on the drivers. As to slippiness, it was nothing new to what it was elsewhere. More horses fell in a day in other cities than here in six months.

The brewery company will be informed that the plan cannot be changed now unless all the owners affected will agree to the use of brick instead of wood blocks.

Brigadier Smeaton of the Salvation Army headquarters, Chicago, late provincial officer for British Columbia, arrived in the city this morning to attend the funeral of Mrs. Melville. Mrs. Smeaton's mother, who passed away in the Jubilee hospital on Friday, the brigadier will probably take part in the services at the citadel to-morrow.

RESERVOIR CAN BE MADE TIGHT

TIME AND PATIENT

EFFORT NECESSARY

Mayor Secures an Opinion

From Canadian Engineer

on Matter.

"Time and patient effort" are necessary to make the Smith's Hill reservoir eventually water-tight. This is the opinion of John Galt, C. E., an eminent Canadian engineer who was spoken of when A. L. Adams was chosen as the city's adviser in waterworks matters. As was explained by Mayor Hall to the aldermen assembled at streets committee last night, Mr. Galt's presence in the city was taken advantage of to have him examine the reservoir on Wednesday.

Mr. Galt's report hardly bears out the statements that have been made from high quarters, that the reservoir was not leaking. He wonders it has not been leaking worse and looks for further leakage. Without expressing an opinion on the design, Mr. Galt says the construction is substantial and safe. His words introduced the report saying: "Although it was not expected any statement would be made but there has been so much talk about the reservoir, leaking, etc., lately, and so much controversy and comment in the papers that I thought it was only fair that we should get some opinion when that opinion was available in the city for as I felt sure to put at rest anything that might be said hereafter. I had full confidence in the work and felt sure Mr. Galt's report would be favorable, and the majority of aldermen said 'go ahead and get him.' I asked him to make a report to myself and the council and he has made a report which I will read and then you can judge whether it is worth what he has charged."

The report was as follows:

"Gentlemen: In compliance with your wishes as per instructions and letter from your commissioner, Mr. Jas. L. Raymur, of the 10th inst., I beg to state that I examined the plans of the reservoir on the forenoon of Wednesday, the 11th, and spent the afternoon of the same day, accompanied by Mr. Raymur and Mr. Donovan, examining the reservoir as actually constructed, which at the time was empty and had been so for a few days to make repairs and apply a cement wash all over the slightly sloping sides of the interior concrete surface.

The reservoir does not belong to the ordinary class of earth water-tight embankments, but has evidently been specially designed to suit the local conditions of materials and site. "The excavation in rock and earth has been utilized in the fill to build up a strong embankment to resist the direct pressure of water which is not in any way intended or capable of being water-tight."

"In order to hold water the whole interior has been lined with concrete, which also tends to distribute the water pressure uniformly to the embankments. "This lining on bottom and sides is constructed of solid concrete without any steel reinforcing in large panels or slabs, the bottom slabs being about six inches thick. They have been built in place and the joints filled in with a thick fluid asphaltum, the intention being to provide against the stresses of expansion and contraction and prevent the cracking of concrete. While at the same time giving a slightly elastic or yielding surface all over to permit of the concrete bedding itself under pressure hard up against the outer materials while at the same time retaining water-tight joints."

"The intentions of design have been well carried out in construction, and I was most favorably impressed upon examination with the substantial character and good appearance of the work done."

"It could hardly be expected at the first filling of the reservoir with water to have no leakage develop with such a special design as this, in fact when one thinks of the large interior surface with such a multiplicity of joints, the wonder is that it was not even worse. But of course it was only about half filled and when filled to overflowing and the full weight encountered further leakage may develop notwithstanding the present repairs, and I will be agreeably surprised if it is not found necessary again to empty and refix some of the concrete and joints."

"The structure, however, as a whole is a safe and substantial one, and I firmly believe can be eventually made water-tight by time and patient effort."

"It would be the wisest and best policy if emptying again for repairs to do so at a time when the hot sun and warm atmospheric conditions do not prevail, as the dry exposure under the present time is not too good for it."

"JOHN GALT,

"Consulting Engineer."

His worship added that this practically agreed with Mr. Adams' report and Mr. Adams' statement that he expected leaks at the beginning. Mr. Galt had stated that even if the cost of cement had not been given to the walls the reservoir would become water-tight of itself, the fill filling up the small gaps. So neither council nor citizens need have anything to fear.

"The report was received without comment beyond formal endorsement of his worship's action, in order that the fee of $50 may be paid."

Feet: Janson, charged in the police court this morning with being a frequent of a disorderly house, was remanded until Monday. On a charge of assaulting a woman named Stella Carroll at 6 o'clock this morning, Janson was remanded also. He pleaded not guilty to both charges and applied for bail. The magistrate set the application over on this date, stating that the woman was one, and to appear this morning. Enquiry as to the seriousness of the alleged assault will be made before the bail application is dealt with.

The chairman and committee of the Victoria Seamen's Institute have much pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of a very helpful donation of $34 from Capt. W. Hughes, collected on board the steamship Princess Beatrice, under his command, and tender their grateful thanks to that officer for this token of his kindly remembrance of the needs of the institute, and of what they are trying to do for the seamen of this port, and would be glad if other commanders would follow his praiseworthy example.

The fact that many civic by-laws are ignored by the public, coupled by renewed complaints from Ald. Turner that the police are not doing their duty in this regard, was pointed out at the streets committee meeting last evening. It all arose over a complaint by Ald. Mable that cows are allowed to stray in outlying parts of the city. Some stray animals on Gorge road the other evening destroyed trees belonging to Thomas Ellis and drove Premier McBride and his family off the sidewalk. Ald. Mable thought the poundkeeper or his assistant should be more active.

Mayor Hall advocated a stricter pound by-law. Ald. Turner declared that the police commissioners were primarily responsible. The police ought to look after a great many things they did not attend to, and see to the carrying out of a number of by-laws that were now ignored. It appeared to him that the police were not doing their duty, and it was up to the police commissioners. Mayor Hall, as chairman of the police commissioners, stated that the police had instructions to see that every by-law was obeyed. There were so few policemen, comparatively, that there might be fifty-five cows there for five or six hours and policemen never see them. Chief Langley had for some time been pressing for two mounted men.

Obstructions.

The fact that many civic by-laws are ignored by the public, coupled by renewed complaints from Ald. Turner that the police are not doing their duty in this regard, was pointed out at the streets committee meeting last evening. It all arose over a complaint by Ald. Mable that cows are allowed to stray in outlying parts of the city. Some stray animals on Gorge road the other evening destroyed trees belonging to Thomas Ellis and drove Premier McBride and his family off the sidewalk. Ald. Mable thought the poundkeeper or his assistant should be more active.

Mayor Hall advocated a stricter pound by-law. Ald. Turner declared that the police commissioners were primarily responsible. The police ought to look after a great many things they did not attend to, and see to the carrying out of a number of by-laws that were now ignored. It appeared to him that the police were not doing their duty, and it was up to the police commissioners.

Mayor Hall, as chairman of the police commissioners, stated that the police had instructions to see that every by-law was obeyed. There were so few policemen, comparatively, that there might be fifty-five cows there for five or six hours and policemen never see them. Chief Langley had for some time been pressing for two mounted men.

A policeman could pass an obstruction while mounted the same as he could when walking," continued Ald. Turner. "There are obstructions downtown which the police pass every day in the week and never report to anyone."

Ald. Bishop, also a police commissioner, asked for specific instances. Ald. Turner said he was not paid to do the work the police should, but he could give some cases off hand. Broad street was "perpetually occupied in front of John Meston's shop. There was case No. 1. Just beyond the Driard a contractor was occupying more of the street than he was allowed. There was case No. 2. A third case was on Yates street, between Blanchard avenue and Douglas street. There were three cases for the police commissioners to look into."

Mayor Hall stated that instructions had just been given in all these cases. As to the first case mentioned, the use of the street had been allowed for 20 years. He noticed that there were just two rigs there that evening.

"There are numerous little things of that kind the police should attend to," Ald. Turner remarked.

Ald. McKeown pointed out the danger to the department apparatus from these obstructions.

The matter dropped.

Kenric Murray Permanent Secretary of Congress is Not Going.

The delegates to the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire who went out on last night's boat were rather worried before departure by the receipt of information that a mass of correspondence and data which will be required at the conference is lying at Vancouver.

This was partly due to the fact that the permanent secretary, Kenric Murray, with whom what purports to be an interview was published in Victoria this morning, was not able to come, owing to his wife being stricken with paralysis. This mail which he would have lifted, it is feared, was left behind at Vancouver, although there was a faint hope that it might have passed into the possession of the purser of the Marama.

Most of those who passed through last night will make the return trip to England via the Suez.

Chief of Police Langley gave instructions this morning that all contractors and builders conducting operations in the city must show red lights at night time on building material and hoardings on the streets. This regulation will be enforced and summonses issued against all who do not comply with the requirements.

The chairman and committee of the Victoria Seamen's Institute have much pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of a very helpful donation of $34 from Capt. W. Hughes, collected on board the steamship Princess Beatrice, under his command, and tender their grateful thanks to that officer for this token of his kindly remembrance of the needs of the institute, and of what they are trying to do for the seamen of this port, and would be glad if other commanders would follow his praiseworthy example.

The fact that many civic by-laws are ignored by the public, coupled by renewed complaints from Ald. Turner that the police are not doing their duty in this regard, was pointed out at the streets committee meeting last evening. It all arose over a complaint by Ald. Mable that cows are allowed to stray in outlying parts of the city. Some stray animals on Gorge road the other evening destroyed trees belonging to Thomas Ellis and drove Premier McBride and his family off the sidewalk. Ald. Mable thought the poundkeeper or his assistant should be more active.

Mayor Hall advocated a stricter pound by-law. Ald. Turner declared that the police commissioners were primarily responsible. The police ought to look after a great many things they did not attend to, and see to the carrying out of a number of by-laws that were now ignored. It appeared to him that the police were not doing their duty, and it was up to the police commissioners.

Mayor Hall, as chairman of the police commissioners, stated that the police had instructions to see that every by-law was obeyed. There were so few policemen, comparatively, that there might be fifty-five cows there for five or six hours and policemen never see them. Chief Langley had for some time been pressing for two mounted men.

A policeman could pass an obstruction while mounted the same as he could when walking," continued Ald. Turner. "There are obstructions downtown which the police pass every day in the week and never report to anyone."

FIVE FAVORITES IN FIRST PLACE

RECORD CROWD FOR THE CLOSING FRIDAY

Archibald Rides Four Winners and Secures the Jockey Cup.

The sixtieth day at the Willows races brought a record Friday crowd to the course yesterday, where horses running exactly to form and the winning of five favorites again hit the eleven books hard for the closing week. The betting crowd was as active as during the first week of the meeting, and having had a chance to figure the horses on their fifty-nine days' running the players were surprised only once, when Archibald brought in Sadie H. a winner from the favorite, Sam Shaen, in the second year and a half furlong race. For this the get away and the good finish were responsible, but in the other races the public had the form worked out exactly, and the five winners were all favorites in the betting.

Archibald, with four wins and one second in five mounts for the afternoon, rode to his top form and put such a mortgage on the jockey's cup against his competitors that no one can get it from him.

At 7 to 5 Regina Arvi only had to make the trip round the course, as there was nothing in the field that could approach the filly. Archibald got away first and stayed in front, skirting the rail all the way. Alarmed and terrified, caught the places, Sadie H. didn't figure in the second race on form, but the ride of Archibald got her to the front in the first furlong, and snatched the rail at the tank turn from Julia C. Sadie H. lay second till the final straight and raced the field easily with Ted Row and Anna Karolina in the money.

Irish Mail was a favorite, and justified the public faith with McEwen up. The boy got away bad, but worked his way through the field from last position to first and won by a neck from Ornate. The latter, under an unlucky ride, came with tremendous speed from last to second in the final furlong, after appearing hopelessly beaten. Semprole got third.

Convent Bell lay second to Lena Leach all the way till the final quarter, when Archibald put the mare to the test and landed her a winner by half a length after a race. Lena Leach, with jockeys reversed, might have won the race. De Grammont ran third, but never troubled the two leaders.

David Boland let Abbey take the lead for a furlong, and then went away from the field and won by a couple of lengths from Pacifico with Abbey in third place. King brought Naameroo under a smart ride home a winner in the mile, beating Christine A. in the final drive, after the latter had made the pace for the full journey.

Archibald has secured the jockey cup with 49 points—being 30 ahead of his nearest opponent, Brockie. The details of yesterday's racing were:

SEATTLE JUNIORS LEAD AT ATHLETIC MEET

Score Eighty-one Points in Events at Exposition Stadium.

(Times Leased Wire.) Seattle, Wash., Aug. 14.—With the pick of the track athletes of the country scheduled to participate in the second day's events at the Amateur Athletic Union meet at the exposition stadium this afternoon, sensational contests are promised, and it would not be surprising if a number of new records were set.

Local athletic enthusiasts are jubilant to-day over the wonderful showing of the Seattle Athletic Club juniors in yesterday's meet, when 31 points were piled up as against 15 for the New York Athletic Club, which was second, and 13 for the Multnomah Athletic Club, of Portland, third.

Taking part in the games this afternoon are such noted athletes as Ralph Rose, the shot putter; Frank Trons, the London Olympic champion broad jumper; Harry Hillman, the quarter-mile and hurdler; Lee Talbot and Alfred P. Law, weight throwers; the veteran Jim Mitchell, Hamilton and May, Chicago sprinters; Con Leahy, the famous Irish jumper; H. Giesing, the New York half-mile, and a host of others.

Two new records were made in the junior meet yesterday: Joe Ballard, of the Boston Athletic Association, winning the mile run in the remarkable time of 4:24.35. The former record was 4:30 4-5. Bralley Gish, of the Seattle Athletic Club, threw the javelin 144 feet, thereby establishing a new world's record.

A banquet was given last night by the board of governors of the Seattle Athletic Club, at which James E. Sullivan, president of the A.A.U., was the guest of honor. Mr. Sullivan was presented with a loving cup on behalf of the local track team.

The Times Nature Club

Some hunters who are true sportsmen and who do not like to kill baby birds have long been in favor of commencing the shooting season later than was formerly done. They agreed that many of the birds were only chicks in the month of September, and there was a good deal of truth in what they said. At last the government recognized this and made the open season commence later.

A few days ago a proof of the correct position of these people came to hand. A quail's nest was found a fortnight ago at Cordova Bay with thirteen eggs on which the old bird was sitting. A trip to the same spot with a camera last Saturday was made only to find the young birds hatched and gone. These birds must have been hatched early in August, and will still be mere chicks when September opens.

The eggs, like those of a pheasant, a picture of which was published a short time ago, were all broken around the widest part, and most of them were left in the nest, showing that the little chicks must have left the nest as soon as hatched. The eggs were almost white, with reddish-brown spots distributed regularly all over them. In size they were a little larger than plover's eggs.

The nest was built beneath a small fir tree, and was completely hidden from view. A child playing around had disturbed the bird, and her flying off had discovered the nest. It was constructed of cedar tips, sticks and grass, a much better nest than the quail often makes. In order to take the accompanying photograph the boughs of the fir tree had to be cut off.

Ant-Lions.

In the same district near Cordova Bay a great many ant lions are to be found at this time of year. In fact they may be found anywhere in the country where there are overhanging stumps on the sunny side of the road with loose soil or sand beneath. In the sand the ant lion sets its trap, a little conical hole about an inch or an inch and a half wide at the top and tapering down to nothing. The lion is hidden in the bottom and catches the unlucky ant that falls in by means of its powerful horny fangs, which hold the prey while its life-blood is being sucked away.

QUAIL'S NEST.

Snake Skins.

A gentleman wandering through Gonzales Park recently picked up a perfect snake's skin which the reptile had shed off without breaking. It was very thin and light, almost transparent, and in order to photograph it a snapshot had to be taken because the slightest breeze made it move. It was found among the long grass. Snakes shed their skins several times a year, but just at what time I am unable to say. Perhaps someone may be able to tell the club.

Frightened Out of Skin.

To be frightened out of one's skin is an old story, but it is not often that the action has ever been literally witnessed. That is what J. R. Anderson of this city saw a few days ago, however. His little Aberdeen terrier was out with him for a ramble, when the dog surprised a snake which was just about to shed its skin. The snake in its fright and in its hurry to get away rustled out of the old dry case and left it behind.

A few days ago a meeting of the Natural History Society, Mr. Anderson exhibited a sketch which he had made of two cedar trees growing together. They were fifteen feet apart at the base, but one had evidently been blown over against the other, and at about 18 or 20 feet from the ground had united and gone up for nearly one hundred feet as one tree. Other members also told of instances they had seen of similar occurrences.

Aged Cats.

Fifteen years is very old for a cat. A lady correspondent writes to the club to say that recently an old pet of hers died at that advanced age. It was in good health and active until a week before it died. The same lady states that she heard of a cat living to twenty years of age. This she regards as very abnormal.

A reader of the club writes to say how much interested she was in the story of the sleeping duck, which was photographed by W. H. Blinn, and also in the story of the swallow which refused to be kept out of its nest by the piece of tin, removing it each time it entered or left the nest.

Did He Reason?

There are still a few people who profess to believe that animals do not reason. They are so puffed up with their own importance that they refuse to give credit to the creatures which they look down upon. A short time ago a rat was carrying off a large bone which had been thrown into the back yard. Coming to a board fence the only way through was by way of a small hole, and the bone was too big to pass through. For some time it tried, but finding that it could not be done in that way it put down the bone and went through the hole without it. Then putting its head back through it caught the bone by one end and by a series of wriggles and twisting managed to haul it through the hole. Perhaps the rat did not reason in finding out the way to get the bone through, but it certainly looked as much as if it did.

Wild Flower Gardens.

One of the most interesting gardens a person can have is one composed wholly of wild native flowers. There are on this island a wealth of flowers, many of which are sent away to distant parts of the world to be cultivated in the gardens. They are almost all very hardy, much better adapted usually to the soil and climate than the common garden flowers which we import. Most of the species may be improved by cultivating and selecting the best species. Collecting the specimens, arranging them so as to bring the best results, and planning to have a bloom all the season round proves a most fascinating hobby.

WIND ON THE STOMACH

A Well Known Westerner Tells of Suffering from Nerve and Pain That He Cured With "Nerviline."

"A few weeks ago I ate some green vegetables and some fruit, that was not quite ripe. It first brought on a fit of indigestion, but unfortunately it developed into hiccoughs, accompanied by nausea and cramps. I was dreadfully ill for two days—my head ached and I was unable to sleep at night. A neighbor happened in to see me and urged me to try Nerviline. Well, I wouldn't have believed that any preparation could help so quickly. I took half a tea-spoonful of Nerviline in hot sweetened water, and my stomach felt better at once. I used Nerviline several times, and was completely restored."

The above is from a letter written by G. E. Braun, a well-known stockman and farmer near Lethbridge, Alta. Mr. Braun's favorable opinion of the high merit of Nerviline is shared by thousands of Canadians who have proved Nerviline is simply a marvel for cramps, diarrhoea, flatulence, nausea and stomach disorders. Safe to use, guaranteed to cure—you can make no mistake in keeping Nerviline for your family remedy. Large 25c. bottles; five for $1.00. Sold everywhere, or The Canadian Dispensary Co., Kingston, Ont.

PENNY POSTAGE

Mr. Burston, British postmaster-general, replying to the Chamber of Commerce, said that penny postage to France was desirable, but impossible at present. It would mean a loss of £20,000 a year, and really of £250,000, as it could not be refused to other Continental countries. Penny a word telegram would also be unprofitable.

ANOTHER PIONEER HAS PASSED AWAY

Allan Graham Died Last Night at Advanced Age.

Another of the pioneers of this province passed away last evening at his residence, 331 Pandora avenue, in the person of Allan Graham. Deceased has been ailing for the past two years and was in his seventy-second year. Born in Egremont, Cumberland, England, Mr. Graham went into the grocery business in his native town. His affections were then drawn to Canada and some forty-five years ago he came to this continent from the old land.

When the Omineca gold rush started he turned his attention to that place. After arriving there Mr. Graham started up in business, running a small trading store. Hardships were numerous in that part of the province, then and one's life was in danger at many times. Here, then, he was secretary to ex-Judge O'Reilly and afterwards was made a justice of the peace. While holding the latter position he won a name as a good dispenser of law.

Mr. Graham was most highly respected. He was always a favorite wherever he went as he always had an interesting story to tell about the early days of the province. Since his arrival to this coast he had been closely identified with the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, having passed through the chair of the Grand Lodge. He was also secretary of the Vancouver Encampment, No. 1, and past grand master of the I. O. O. F. in British Columbia. For a large number of years he had acted as secretary of the B. C. Pioneers' Society, which position he held at the time of his death. The members of both lodge and society speak in the most respectful way of their late member, who had taken such an interesting part in this coming province.

The funeral has been arranged to take place to-morrow afternoon at 2:15 o'clock from the Odd Fellows hall, Douglas street, and at 2:30 o'clock from Christ Church cathedral, where services will be conducted by the Rev. Bishop Perlin, assisted by the Rev. E. G. Miller. All Odd Fellows are requested to assemble at the hall at 2 o'clock to attend the funeral in a body.

—Colfax Rebekah Lodge, No. 1, will hold a basket picnic at the George park Friday afternoon. Visiting members, Odd Fellows and their families are cordially invited.

—In another column will be found a Limerick which has been inserted by the Limerick manager of the woman's building committee. In arranging this contest in aid of the fund for the women's building at the fair grounds the management are satisfied that they will have the support of many public-spirited citizens who will enter, not because of the prizes in view, but just to "play the game" and add to the success and fun of the contest in the spirit of good fellowship and sympathy with the effort now being made by the women of Victoria to obtain an adequate building in which the beautiful handwork done by women and children may be displayed to advantage, and also where a rest and refreshment room so badly wanted in past years will be found.

Advertising Talk No. 12

"A business man who doesn't know how to advertise, like a watchdog with no teeth, makes a lot of noise, but nobody pays any attention to him."—Rusty Mike's Diary.

When the big political bosses are asked to endorse a candidate for office, whether he be for the presidency of the United States, or for any other office, the first thing they do is to run to their party newspaper.

The next thing along comes the nominee, if perchance he be running, say for the President's chair; riding throughout the country making speeches from the rear of a train. He wants the people to see and know him. The first step of getting his name in the papers gave the masses the first inkling of his political desire. After the newspaper had done its work, it was up to him to "deliver the goods," and make the people like him.

So it is with the managers of business houses; those who feel that within them lies the success or failure of their houses. They feel they must reach the people and sometimes they are at a loss to understand why they do not.

Away back in a little Pennsylvania village near the border of Wayne and Pike counties, there lived a man of three score years who had never seen a railroad. He had heard of them, but had never made the trip of twenty miles or more to see the trains. One day a gathering of his friends fell to discussing the report of a train having travelled 90 miles an hour. All of them, with the exception of the old fellow, had travelled on a number of times. But to the one who had never seen even a coal car, the announcement that there was anything that could travel at such a rate of speed was past his comprehension. He listened quietly for a time while the crowd discussed the subject, when suddenly he blurted out:

"Taint no such thing."

When finally shown a newspaper containing the news of the record speed trip, he read the article through very carefully, knocked the ash out of his pipe, and exclaimed: "I ain't never seen a railroad, but I'm off to see that one right now."

There are a good many people to-day who are like the old man, only that their lack of knowledge does not, perhaps, apply to railroads. There are many things people want, after they know they exist, and it is generally the newspapers which first open their eyes.

People are ever seeking to find something new. It is the cherished dream of the women to get something which no other woman has, or if there be no chance for that, then she wants the "newest out," as soon as her neighbors, and to this end she eagerly scans the advertising columns of the daily newspapers, or in other words she is "always on the job."

There is never a day in any year but that someone somewhere wants something. They do not know what firm it is that has it, or at what price. Accordingly they simply "keep-a-lookin'" until they find it.

A thousand and one incidents could be cited wherein the newspapers have made this or that man. And it was simply because he told people about himself through the daily columns.

Recognition of the worth and value of advertising through the medium of the daily press, to those who are reluctant to acknowledge its advantages, comes as slow as the workings of the mills of the ancient gods. But like the exceeding fineness of the grist from the old mills, once the business man feels the far-reaching effect of newspaper advertising, he lives on, well satisfied with the harvest.

SCHOOL HOLIDAYS NOT TO BE EXTENDED

Superintendent of Education Replies to Trustee Board in Subject.

Dr. Alexander Robinson, superintendent of education, has informed the board of school trustees that owing to the fact that the summer has not been excessively hot the school holidays will not be extended this year.

Dr. Robinson, however, is prepared to discuss with the members of the school board, the whole matter of school holidays and hear the members regarding suggested changes in the present arrangements.

FRENCH WARSHIP SAILS FOR CRETE

The Powers Take Steps to Preserve Peace on the Island.

(Times Leased Wire.) Paris, Aug. 14.—The French cruiser Victor Hugo left Toulon to-day for Crete to join the British battleship Swiftsure and the warships of Italy and Russia in accordance with the agreement of the four powers to protect the island.

It is understood that the powers will resume control of affairs of the island and compel the Cretan officials to hand down the flag of Greece. The ships also will prevent the Turkish government from making a demonstration against Crete, as it is reported to have planned.

ONE PERSON KILLED AND THREE INJURED

Automobile Wrecked by the Explosion of Gasoline Tank.

(Times Leased Wire.) Philadelphia, Aug. 14.—The explosion of gasoline in an automobile to-day containing a chauffeur, four women and three men, caused the death of the driver, fatally injured one of the women and seriously injured another woman and one of the men.

The remaining two men and two women escaped uninjured and have not been found, having disappeared from the scene immediately after the accident.

The dead, James Dugan, the chauffeur, was fatally injured, Mrs. Laura Taylor, seriously injured; Caroline Pechetel, both arms broken; Charles Flower, broken leg.

The party had been riding all night in a borrowed machine. They had entered Fairmont Park when the gasoline in the tank caught fire and blew up. The occupants of the automobile were hurled high in the air, and when the police arrived Dugan was dead, Mrs. Taylor and Miss Pechetel and Flower were lying outstretched and unconscious twenty feet from the wrecked machine. Two men and two women who had been in the machine, but who escaped injury when the gasoline exploded were present, but on the arrival of the police they slipped away and have not been seen since.

An over-heated stock at the works of the Hendricks Copper Company, in Belleville, near Newark, N. J., caused a fire which burned three brick buildings of the plant, entailing a loss estimated at $150,000. Several firemen were partially overcome by smoke, but none were seriously injured.

MONOPLANE AND BIPLANE FLYER

MERITS AND DEMERITS
OF THE TWO MACHINES

Hubert Latham's Airship Glides Like a Bird on the Wing.

The resemblance of Hubert Latham's flying machine to a bird, gliding on outstretched wing, occurs to every observer. And the flight of the machine depends on the same dynamic laws as does the flight of a bird. The only difference is, on the one hand, that between mechanical power and the mind of a man, and on the other, between muscles and the instinct of a bird is far closer than its resemblance to a kite. In the latter we have a flat surface held by a string so that it presents its face to the wind, the air, remaining aloft only while there is sufficient pressure of air against it; or, in the absence of a current of air, only while the operator runs and causes the kite to press against the air. But a motor is a kite and with the aid of a propeller drive it through the air, and you have what Mr. Cody calls a "power-kite." Nature aids in the working of this contrivance to the extent that, given a certain momentum, the kite or the plane keeps its position—maintains balance—and the momentum has only to be renewed continually by means of mechanical power and we have a flying machine.

It is likely enough that mechanical flight will always be by aeroplane rather than by helicopter (direct lifting screws) or by ornithopter (flogging wings). No success has yet been achieved by either of the latter methods. As to aeroplanes, until a month ago all the running had been made by biplanes. The Antoinette, the Blériot, the R. E. P., and other monoplanes had had very little success. Then Hubert Latham on an Antoinette monoplane started the world with a series of wonderful flights, and brought to nought the prediction that the monoplane was not a machine for long voyages, since it lacked stability. The same critic condemned the Wright machine because it possessed no stability-tail, and they approved of the Voisin biplane because in addition to its stability-tail its main planes are divided into compartments like a box-kite. These critics have been too hasty.

Of aeroplanes there are monoplanes, biplanes, triplanes, and multiplanes. The monoplane and the biplane are, respectively, akin to the single-surface kite and the box-kite. The lifting power of a plane depends upon the length of the front edge. The object of having more than one plane is to increase the lateral front edge, or "entering edge," without the necessity of having an enormous span from right to left. It is worthy of remark that the birds that glide and soar are all birds with long wings. The albatross, for instance, has wings which, outstretched, are fourteen times as long as their width. It would be an advantage, were it mechanically simple, to build an aeroplane of similar proportions. But hitherto, in practice, a workable compromise has been found in aeroplanes from five to nine times longer than their width. In Mr. Latham's monoplane the proportion is about six to one.

Cutting a plane up and placing one piece over the other is only possible within limits. It is easier to steer a machine that is wide from port to starboard than it is to steer a very narrow machine. The biplane has hitherto been considered a useful compromise, but it has "obtained" flights in England, France, and Major E. H. B. Power and Mr. Saul are experimenting with quadriplices. In neither of their machines, however, are the planes arranged in a series of four, one over the other, in machines of more than one plane—vertical sections, dividing the space between the planes into compartments and so making a kind of box-kite, and the addition of a stability-tail, require greatly increased driving power; hence the comparative failure of the Voisin type of machine, which, with very high-power engines, is only able to obtain brief flights on days when Mr. Wilbur Wright with a low-power engine keeps aloft for one or two hours. Mr. Latham's machine, having only about one-half the total lifting surface of Mr. Wright's biplane, requires a higher power than does the American machine, which ascends with only a 24 horse power motor.

By widening the planes fore and aft, lifting power is not greatly increased, but by arching the planes from front to back the loss of lifting power is slightly reduced. The wings of Mr. Latham's machine are so curved. And, just as the wings of a gliding bird are set at an angle, a shallow V, so also are the wings of Mr. Latham's monoplane. If the engine stops work during the flight the machine is designed to glide gradually to the ground, its course assisted by various steering surfaces under the control of the driver. The reader can experiment for himself with a piece of stiff paper cut roughly to the form of the monoplane, and with the two main surfaces bent in the manner shown. A small piece of cardboard stuck between the two large surfaces just behind the place where the propeller is attached in the main machine will give the paper its proper weight; with a slight initial impulse such a toy will glide slowly for several yards in still air.

In quite still air and with an engine that worked without variation, Mr. Latham's machine would maintain perfect stability. But constant changes are in progress in flight, and the planes therefore rise and dip and also cant. To mitigate the rising and dipping tendency a small horizontal plane—in other words, a tail—is fixed at a certain distance to the rear of the main wings. The pressure of the air on this tail checks the tendency of the main planes to rise or fall in the direction of flight, and makes the aviator's task simpler. His task is to elevate or depress a movable horizontal tail which extends beyond the fixed tail already mentioned. This is called the "elevator," and by manipulating it he alters the attitude in flight. Bisecting the horizontal tail in a fixed vertical plane, which checks the tendency of the machinery to move to right or left and to cant. At the rear of this is the vertical rudder for guidance. And attached to the rear of the main planes at the extreme right and left are "ailerons" or winglets, which act in unison. When the right one is tilted upwards the left one is depressed, and vice versa. A plane wheeling in air tilts upwards on the outside of the curve, for the reason that the outside of the plane is moving through the air faster than the inside edge, and it is a principle of plane flight that the greater the speed the greater is the lifting power. To reduce the tilt while wheeling through the air Mr. Latham manipulates the "ailerons," which are akin to Mr. Wilbur Wright's famous contrivance for twisting or flexing the wing tips. In wheeling to the right the left "aileron" is depressed and the right "aileron" is elevated.

The main supporting surface in Mr. Latham's machine is two arched wings placed side by side at an angle like a very shallow V. They are made of a wooden frame covered with varnished fabric, and they measure 42 feet from port to starboard. The total surface area is 24 square feet. The body is formed by a torpedo-shaped triangular wooden girder covered with the same fabric, which is made as smooth as possible, because it is believed that rough surfaces increase the resistance to the air. The driver sits in this body, immediately to the rear of the main wings. The length of the machine, fore and aft, is 39½ feet. The various steering surfaces are controlled by two steering wheels. One on the right operates the horizontal rudder; the other, in front, works the vertical rudder and the "ailerons" together.

For the cross-channel flight a 50-h.p. Antoinette motor was mounted. This drives a two-bladed metal screw, which is placed in front of the machine, cleaves a way through the air, pulling the machine after it. It is called a "tractor screw." Its diameter is 7½ feet. Its speed is 1,200 revolutions per minute.

The machine is supported when on the ground by two wheels fixed beneath the main surface and fitted with a skid projecting forward. The machine is started along the ground, until sufficient speed has been attained for flight. The "elevator" is then raised, and Mr. Latham starts the air. The skid is mounted on powerful compressed air brakes to take the landing shock. Without the "driver" the machine weighs about 580 pounds.

ICE-BOUND PRISON IN FROZEN SIBERIA

Details of Suffering of Prisoners Are Almost Incredible.

In the lectures which Harry de Windt is delivering in London on the subject of his travels in Siberia, he gives a brief account of an ice-bound prison, known as Sredni-Kolymsk, the conditions of which are so horrible that it is almost incredible that with a view to obtaining fuller particulars a representative of the Daily News had interviewed Mr. de Windt on the subject. Greater weight may be attached to his statements because he has never in previous controversies taken the side of those who have taken sensational stories of the conditions of Siberian exiles. During his recent expedition from Paris to New York he came upon a little band of political outcasts living in such abject destitution and misery in a practically unknown portion of Arctic Siberia that he has to some extent modified his views as to the "humanity" of Russian penal methods.

"I still believe," he said, "that the criminal prisons of Central Siberia are as humanely conducted as our own. The political prisons I saw there were more severe, though I never witnessed even in these, anything approaching the appalling scenes of mental and physical torture which I saw quite by accident, at the Arctic settlement of Sredni-Kolymsk. It is true we only found fourteen exiles there, of whom two were women; but I shudder to this day of the mere recollection of their indescribable sufferings."

"How had they got there from European Russia?"

"It is about 3,000 miles from St. Petersburg by rail to Irkutsk, thence 2,000 miles to Yakutsk (which Russians call the 'end of the world') by boat down the Lena river. Here exiles must await the winter, for the desolate tracts of country on to the Sredni-Kolymsk chiefly consist of vast swamps which can only be crossed when frozen in a reindeer sleigh. And here already terrible privations await them, for the few native rest-houses are hundreds of miles apart, which necessitates sleeping in the open for several months at the mercy of the furious blizzards which sweep down from the Polar sea, and which these poor wretches have neither a tent and furs," added Mr. de Windt, "nor any other means of protection. And if we suffered severely during our four months' journey over the same ground what must it mean to the frail, delicately-nurtured women who often take two years to accomplish the voyage from St. Petersburg?"

"And what about Sredni-Kolymsk?"

"A row of rickety log huts," was the reply, "with windows of ice and a score of dwellings even more squalid—the former tenanted by wild Yakutes, the latter by the unhappy exiles. So still and desolate is the place that it looked like a scene from a dream, a scene of every living soul. At first sight the blue sky and bright sunshine seemed to mock the hopeless misery of the scene as some haggard, grey-faced beings crawled out of their hovels and watched us in silent apathy without a sign of welcome, although we were the first fellow-men they had beheld since the last batch of exiles, eighteen months before. These were the exiles. One man in rags, with a face of a leper, limped towards us, gibbering like a lunatic. He had been a famous lawyer only six years before in Warsaw. It was all too horrible. Only two of the exiles were there for actual crime," Mr. de Windt continued, "the others were there for offences unpunishable in this country, but for which they have been consigned forever (for that is what a so-called term of years amounts to) to this living grave, where they occupy ramshackle tumble-down log huts, abandoned even by the filthy and degraded natives."

"No provision whatever is made by the government. These poor 'victims' must shift for themselves; they must catch in summer keep them alive putrid condition, keeps them alive throughout the long, dark winter, for there are no means of preserving it. All they are given is a little flour, gradually issued by the chief of police (himself a convicted felon), and the one post a year brings only one (censored) letter for each."

"Transport, therefore, being nil, the ordinary necessities of life are quite unattainable. Furs they had none, except the mangy, discarded deerkins of the natives. A little driftwood is storable in the treeless waste. Imagine this in a temperature of 60 degrees below zero! Jailers? Only one man is needed, for cruel nature replaces bolts and bars. Besides, where could they escape to with no human life within 2,000 miles."

"And in summer time their condition is nearly as pitiable. The sun-joins through dense mist, rainy weather prevails, and the huts are flooded for weeks together. There are swarms of mosquitoes and much sickness, especially typhus fever; and, of course, no doctor, infirmary, or even drugs. Yet there is a mental disease more dreaded than even the deadly typhus by this little colony of martyrs, for it invariably precedes insanity. This is a form of hysteria in which the sufferer unconsciously and suddenly mimics the speech and actions of others. This appalling affliction is 'unknown' in other parts of Siberia, and is probably due to semi-starvation and the oppressive stillness which eternally envelops this little hell of cold and famine—the stillness of death. My expedition was only here ten days, but it seemed when we left as though as many years had elapsed since our arrival."

"Have they no books or writing materials?"

"Neither—no mental occupation of any sort or kind to lessen the hideous monotony of this life in death. It was pathetic to see a young and talented lady of good family from Moscow making little patterns in the frozen snow with pebbles she had 'collected'—hardly daily self-imposed task. 'If it were not for these,' said the poor soul, 'I should go insane.' Ten suicides had occurred in the preceding seven years!"

"Did the chief of police, the convicted criminal of whom you spoke, add to the sufferings of these miserable captives by ill-treatment?" Mr. de Windt was asked.

"I wish I could say no," was the reply. "But an illiterate brute, with absolute power, and sixty or seventy savage Yakutes at his back, is not likely to be over-tolerant, or even humane. Only a few weeks before our visit a young student—I can give you his name, Serge Kaleshnikov—was, for an imaginary offence, bound hand and foot and flogged into a state of insensibility by the chief of police—not the man we met, but his predecessor, who was eventually removed to Yakutsk for an inquiry. Kaleshnikov—having strangled himself the day after the occurrence."

"But I would rather say no more." Mr. de Windt said in conclusion, "except to add that we were the first white men (with the exception of exiles and their guards) to visit Sredni-Kolymsk for twenty-eight years, the last having been two shipwrecked seamen from the Polar ship Rodgers, burnt in Behring straits in 1881. And please remember that Sredni-Kolymsk has nothing whatever to do with the Russian home office, but is under the direct control of the secret police, who work silently in the dark, and of whose diabolical decrees even the governor himself is only too often kept in ignorance."

"THE GIRL FROM RECTOR'S"
Play With a Wonderful Run in New York Comes to Victoria.

Theatregoers are anticipating with a remarkable show of interest the forthcoming production in this city of "The Girl from Rector's," which comes direct from an entire season's run at Weber's Music Hall, New York. All box office records were broken during the engagement, and the run might have continued until today were it not for the necessity of filling out-of-town contracts that had been previously made.

"The Girl from Rector's" is declared by the Metropolitan critics to be one of the funniest of high-class productions made there in many years. The plot deals with the actions of a young society woman of Battle Creek, Mich., who is charitably inclined. She spends most of her time in her own circle at home but her husband, a judge at the court of Shanghai is away for such long periods she decides to go to New York for recreation and rest. She is attracted by the gliding lights at Rector's and there she makes her headquarters. In the course of time she meets the architect of "The Girl from Rector's," and on her next visit to Battle Creek she meets at the home of a society friend many of those of the Rector circle. She had been posing as the daughter of a Buffalo man, and while "The Girl" in a way is endeavoring to explain her dual identity, complications arise which reveal a series of situations that keep the audience in a roar to the final curtain. The engagement of "The Girl" here is limited to Tuesday night at Victoria theatre.

BE A CHARMING WOMAN

You never saw a beautiful woman who didn't have beautiful hair. The charms of a beautiful woman lie in her hair. Many women do not realize the attractions they possess because they do not give proper attention to the care of the hair.

Up to a few years ago Parisian Sage could hardly be obtained in America. But now this delightful hair restorer can be had in every town in America. D. E. Campbell sells it in Victoria for 50 cents a bottle, and he guarantees it to grow beautiful, luxuriant hair; to turn dull, lifeless hair into lustrous hair; to stop falling hair; to stop itching of the scalp. Understand, D. E. Campbell will give you your money back if it fails.

PANTAGES THEATRE.

To-night will be the last opportunity Victorians will have to see the great animal show now at Pantages. Leon Morris & Co.'s Trained Pony, Dog and Monkey Vaudeville Circus is by far the best attraction of the kind in America, and the continuous performances to-night will mark one of the biggest weeks for attendance the Pantages has ever had. Another big bill is promised for next week completely different in nature but equal in quality to the one of this week. The Elwood Trio, a man and two ladies in a comedy novelty sketch called "The Picture Man," which is introduced singing, dancing and cartoon work.

Chas. and Ada Kaimo, Scottish dancers, with lightning changes; La Salle and Lind, in a great juggling performance; De Harport and Scott, musical pastmasters in the art of entertaining, and the regular Pantages house numbers. "Yes it looks good."

YOUTHFUL TRAVELLERS COME FROM LONDON

Y. W. C. A. Called Upon to Entertain Children While En Route.

A few mornings ago, not long after the arrival of the morning boat from Vancouver, two little girls, aged respectively 11 and 12, presented themselves at the door of the Y. W. C. A. on Pandora street. The younger one carried a box containing a violin in one hand, and a heavy bundle almost as large as herself in the other; the elder bore a valise or somewhat antiquated appearance, which was more than the matron of the Y. W. C. A. could lift. They announced that they had come from London, Eng., quite by themselves, that they had been ticketed in charge of the Y. W. C. A., and everybody had been good to them. They hadn't had a bit of trouble, and were going on to Port Townsend to join their mother whom they hadn't seen for three months.

They were provided with through tickets and sufficient money to take them comfortably to their journey's end, and were quite merry and unconcerned. They were entertained at the Y. W. C. A. rooms until the following morning, when they were put on the Ironquils for Port Townsend, the last stage of their journey.

It is not often that such youthful travellers ask for shelter at the Y. W. C. A. rooms, but a great many older girls coming strangers to the city have found a safe and economical boarding house throughout the season.

Contributions of books and magazines will be most gratefully received at the rooms at any time, and the matron longs for fruit with which to fill her jam jars.

NEW GRAND THEATRE.

Angels of the old plantation will be heard and seen at the New Grand next week when Mort Sharp, featuring Miss Vivian Montgomery with five girls, appears in a Southern act full of singing and dancing. The act is one of the most expensive and highly attractive brought here. With seven in the cast it approaches the extraordinary for most vaudeville productions. It is a blackface act; the girls all staining their faces to keep in touch the spirit of the south. The beauty nevertheless is not hidden and the music will be tuneful and the dancing in ti form of ballets of the coon character. The act is entitled "Dancing on the Leaves." The three brothers La Maze is another big acrobatic turn full of comical, which has been received with laughter everywhere, and acknowledged one of the best. One of the acrobats has remarkable tumbling and falls over the footlights to the astonishment of all. The act is big and complete.

Alban Holuber, formerly leading man with Sammi Frawley, brings the high-toned sketch, "Blue Blood," which is reported one of the best acted and most interesting on tour. He is a first class actor and is bound to put on a first class performance.

Will Morrissey, "The College Boy," is a singing and talking comedian of rare merit, who will sing well and bring some bright humor along. Thomas J. Price is singing "Naomi," and new motion pictures are billed. To-night the present big show will run for the last time with Tom and Stasia Moore as the headliners.

LONDON OPERA SEASON ENDS.

Successful Fourteen Weeks at Covent Garden—King Went Seven Times.

The opera season at Covent Garden came to an end a few days ago. It has been highly satisfactory to the directors, who congratulate themselves on having been able to please their patrons without ruining themselves in the process. The season lasted fourteen weeks, and during that period the Princess Royal attended no less than thirty-two performances; the King went seven times, the Queen twelve, the Prince of Wales three, the Princess of Wales four, and Princess Henry of Battenberg, mother of Queen Victoria of Spain, six.

For purposes of comparison with New York's opera, it is interesting to note that the number of performances given at Covent Garden amounts to eighty-six, including two matinees with Tetrazzini, "Samson and Dalila" was given nine times, "Madam Butterfly" seven times, "Aida," "Il Barbiere di Siviglia," "Boheme," "Rigoletto," and "La Traviata," six; "Faust" and "Louise," five, and "La Sonnambula" and "La Tosca," four times. Altogether there were sixty-one performances of Italian opera, twenty-three of French and two of German.

GROUNDING OF MARAMA HAS BEEN DENIED

Liner Waited in English Bay for Passengers and Mail.

Captain Morrissey, of the steamer Marama, expressed great annoyance last night at the report received from Vancouver that the steamer was ashore near Siwash Rock. Two dispatches were received from Vancouver yesterday by the Times, one stating that the steamer was ashore and would be floated off at high tide, and the other one later saying that the steamer was off the Siwash Rock, and was on her way to Victoria. The captain stated that they left port before all the passengers and mails were aboard in order to take advantage of the tide. The stop in English Bay, he said, was made simply to pick them up.

The following dispatch was received from Vancouver this morning:

"General Manager Irons, of the Canadian-Australia line, has issued a statement denying that the liner Marama was ashore off Siwash Rock yesterday. He says that the liner went out of her course and waited there for a tug, which later brought off some special passengers and baggage. It was reported at one time on the water-front that the vessel was hard and fast in a mud bank and underwriters would not deny or confirm the rumor."

BRINGS VALUABLE CARGO OF SILK

EMPRESS OF INDIA ARRIVES FROM ORIENT

Preliminary Agreement Be- tween China and Russia Reported.

With a small list of passengers, but with a valuable cargo of silk, tea and other Oriental commodities, the steamer Empress of India arrived this morning from Hong Kong and way ports. She had a very fine trip and the voyage all the way was uneventful. The silk consisted of 1,800 bales, valued at $800,000, which will be rushed through to the east on a special train. The whole cargo consisted of 2,200 tons, being valued at over a million and a half dollars.

Among the passengers were Judge Bourne, from Shanghai, who is on his way home to England with his wife and family; United States Commanders Knapp and Orchard, Mrs. E. Capehart, P. Cohen, H. A. Cowper, Mrs. J. A. Ginkel, A. E. Green, H. B. Hickman, Mrs. M. Ikeda, Owang King, H. K. Kouyoumjian, W. C. Kruger, J. McCaffery, Mrs. McCaffery and infant, B. Morris, H. Murphy, Miss Orchard, Dr. F. L. Hawks, C. H. G. Ross, Rev. T. E. Edgerton Shore, Mrs. Shore, Cheong Hin Son, Miss M. L. Spencer, Mrs. West, G. E. Wilde, D. M. Young.

The wireless operator on the steamer reported that communications were kept up throughout the voyage, the following ships and land stations being spoken: H.M.S. Astrea, in Shanghai harbor, and Empress of Japan in the inland sea. On August 5th, two days out from Yokohama, the Toa Maru was picked up and news exchanged. Through the Japanese land stations messages were sent to Yokohama when the ship was 300 miles out, and the Empress of China was spoken at a distance of three hundred miles, the inland sea. On August 5th, two days out from Yokohama, the Toa Maru was picked up and news exchanged. Through the Japanese land stations messages were sent to Yokohama when the ship was 300 miles out, and the Empress of China was spoken at a distance of three hundred miles, the inland sea.

News was brought by the Empress that a preliminary agreement had been signed by the governments of China and Russia looking to a settlement of the taxation question in Manchuria. The Russians claim the right to tax Chinese subjects at Harbin and other settlements along the line of the Harbin railway. The preliminary agreement emphasizes the intention of the Russian government to respect the sovereign rights of China, and is generally looked upon as the first step towards an alliance between the two countries as an offset to the aggressive tactics of Japan. It has not yet assumed the form of a treaty, but it is said of both countries regard it in that light. China has for some time been jealous of the Japanese, and feared they may lose not only Manchuria but other contiguous territory unless some steps are taken to check the aggression. The new agreement is designed to do.

BOYS TRAVELLING AROUND THE WORLD

Siberian Railway Described by the Lads as "Rotten."

W. C. Kruger and H. Murphy, in charge of C. C. Fitzmaurice, representing the Hearst Syndicate, arrived at the Victoria outer dock this morning on the steamer Empress of India on a round-the-world race against two boys travelling in the opposite direction. They were met at the dock by the tug Wyndia, of the Puget Sound Tugboat Company, and hurried to Seattle, where they will meet the train for the east.

Speaking of their trip one of the boys said that they started from Chicago and travelled by way of Havre, Paris, Berlin, Warsaw, Moscow and Yokohama. The trip had been a very interesting one and they had found few difficulties. The customs officials everywhere had been most obliging and little time had been lost. They had little time to talk but were aboard the tug, and before the Empress had been tied up ten minutes, were on their way to Seattle.

DYNAMITE FOUND IN BUNKERS OF BATTLESHIPS

Searching Inquiry Has Been Ordered by British Admiralty.

(Times Leased Wire.)

Sheerness, Eng., Aug. 14.—It was learned to-day that a naval disaster was narrowly averted by the discovery of dynamite cartridges in the coal bunkers of the battleships Lord Nelson and Victorious, which are being coalled here prior to joining the fleet.

As a result all the coal has been removed from the bunkers and a close examination is being made. The commanders of the ships refused to reveal the amount of dynamite found, claiming to believe that the explosive was mixed with the fuel by accident at the mines. A rigorous inquiry into the affair has been ordered.

NEW SHIPPING FIRM FOR NORTH PACIFIC

Steamers to Ply to Alaska From San Francisco Via B. C.

There seems to be a likelihood that the Pacific Coast Steamship Company will have competition in its trade between San Francisco and the North Pacific coast. For a long time a number of shipping companies have been looking with jealous eyes on the big freight and passenger lists of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's steamers which ply these waters. Word has been received from San Francisco that a new company is about to be formed with Fred Parker, manager of the Pacific Coast Biscuit Company, as the nominal head.

The new line of steamers it is proposed will run as far north as Alaska, and will call at at least one Canadian port. This port it is said may be Prince Rupert, but there is also a possibility of its being Victoria. The company is making arrangements to charter two or three steamers for the trade.

Alaska opens a great field for trade with American ports, and the new Canadian city of Prince Rupert will very soon be an active competitor with other coast cities for the trade of the Pacific. There is already a fine wharf at the latter port, but few American steamers call there. It cannot be long, however, before this city becomes the regular port of call of a number of coasting lines as well as transatlantic steamers.

YOUNG BANK ROBBER TELLS OF HOLD-UP

Declares His Parents Need Money to Pay Mortgage on Home.

(Times Leased Wire.)

San Jose, Cal., Aug. 14.—Pale from a sleepless night spent in separate cells of the county jail last night, following their bold attempt to rob the Santa Clara Valley Bank of $7,000 in gold yesterday, Jos. Willette and Fred Carr, the youthful robbers, were arraigned to-day before Judge Thompson.

Through A. L. Dorn, their attorney, they entered no plea when arraigned, and the case was set for Monday.

"I am a poor boy," said Willette in his confession, "and ever since I was 14 years of age I have been working. See the callouses on my hands. My parents have nothing except their little home in Oregon, on which there is a mortgage of $1,500.

"My mother, whom I have not seen for a week, is lying seriously ill and may die. I knew the folks needed money, and I left home. Fred Carr came along with me. We were raised together, and when I told him what I intended doing he consented to come along.

"Four days ago we left Portland, where we had purchased guns and ammunition. We came direct to Oakland and stayed there for a night, and then crossed the bay to San Francisco. Thursday we left for San Jose and remained there during Thursday night. Carr and myself rented a room at the Eureka hotel, and when we went to bed we planned our robbery. We decided that we would tackle the Santa Clara bank, because it was in a little town and we would be better able to escape." Both boys admit the names they have given are fictitious. Sheriff Langford denied to-day that the robbers had confessed to a plot to rob the First National Bank at Oakland. However, he said: "Willette this morning stated that he and Carr had passed the First National and had looked in, but there were too many clerks for them to even think of holding up the officials."

A pair of rare old Chinese porcelain bankers of the Kang-Hi dynasty fetched $2,730 at Christie's, London.

MURDER AND SUICIDE

Ex-Convict Kills Woman in San Francisco and Then Ends Own Life.

San Francisco, Aug. 14.—Agnes Braccasso, a laundry worker, lies in the morgue in this city with her throat cut and her head beaten into a pulp, while George Curry, whose jealous rage led him first to murder and then to self-destruction, is dead in Oakland with a revolver bullet in his heart. The girl's body was found in Curry's room yesterday, and the police had hardly begun their search for the man before word of his suicide was received. He was a convict, who was sentenced in 1902 to ten years in San Quentin for the murder of his wife. Since his parole last July he had worked as a motorman.

The dead girl, it is reported, was engaged to marry Frank Kennedy, of this city, and it was the discovery of this fact which led Curry to take her life.

The body of the murdered girl was found to-day by L. D. Frossner, Curry's room mate. A note, apparently written by Curry, was discovered, which disclosed his probable intention of taking his own life.

GETTING HOME FROM CONFERENCE

DR. FREDERICK WARD
PASSENGER ON MARAMA

He Has Made Complete Circle of the Globe on Trip.

Dr. Frederick Ward, editor of the Sydney Morning Herald, with Mrs. Ward was a passenger outbound on the Marama, which sailed last evening for Antipodean ports. Dr. and Mrs. Ward, when they reach home will have encircled the globe for their journey to England, where Dr. Ward was a delegate to the Imperial Press conference, was made via the Suez. They have spent three weeks in Canada, making a stay of two or three days at Toronto, at Montreal and at Winnipeg, and dropping off at Emerald Lake a few days ago for a delightful stay of twenty-four hours.

It is sixteen years since Dr. Ward was in Canada, having come over on the first boat from Australia on the direct Canadian run. He is astonished at the great growth which has taken place in the interval and true Imperialist that he is, is delighted that the great plains of the middle west are getting their share of the population. "We recognize that you are nearer the great sources of population than we are," he said, "but our turn in Australia will come before long. Wherever there is land, there is the magnet for immigration. We are just about where you were sixteen years ago when I was here, but our turn is coming."

Dr. Ward was one of the most striking members of the overseas delegation to the Imperial Press conference, and with E. S. Cunningham, of the Melbourne Argus, was honored with the degree of LL. D. at Glasgow University during the visit of the delegates to that city. An amusing incident occurred during the ceremony. The Sydney editor rejoices in a fine flowing beard—the only one of the six new doctors thus distinguished, and this fact seemed to have been lost sight of by the official whose duty it was to invest him with gown and hood. As a result the band of the gown when slipped over his head drew tightly across the new doctor's beard, and the latter had to fight vigorously for freedom, amid the loud but good-natured comments of the students in the gallery, and to the infinite amusement of his fellow delegates from overseas and from Britain, in the body of the hall.

Dr. Ward is not only a clever writer but a very effective speaker, and took a very active part in the deliberations of the conference.

Also among last night's passengers was Mark Cohen, of Dundee, N. Z., another of the press delegates, who was likewise accompanied by his wife. Mr. Cohen made good use of the hour that the Marama was in port by visiting the city, with which he fell in love when here on his way to England. He is enthusiastic over Canada, which now takes second place with him only to New Zealand.

Mr. Cohen was among the small band of delegates who started the agitation for cheaper cable rates for press messages on the trip across to England, and stayed with it until such a signal concession was secured. He was a member of the cable committee, which had to give up several functions to accomplish the ends they sought, but who felt well repaid by the results.

JOHNSON'S CONTRIBUTION.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Jack Johnson occupied a front seat in Quinn Chapel last evening and listened to the address of Booker T. Washington delivered before 2,000 negroes. At the conclusion of the address the colored educator made an appeal for funds for the church. Johnson's manager leaped to his feet, holding aloft a ten-dollar bill.

"Mr. Johnson gives ten dollars," he announced.

Washington smiled and bowed to the pugilist, and the bill was deposited in the collection basket.

Dr. Washington's address was an appeal to the negroes of the country to place the standards of their race upon a higher plane by launching a campaign against laziness, which he characterized as the curse of the colored man. He also appealed for the eradication of whisky drinking and gambling among negroes.

PACIFIC COAST: FROM MEXICO TO ALASKA

(BY C. M'K. S.)

It is very evident that any man of an observing and thinking mind, who starts from Mexico, travelling along the coast northwards in a zig zag course, from the Pacific ocean to the Sierra Nevada mountains, will naturally come to the conclusion that the earth's surface in this region has undergone many ordinary, as well as extraordinary, changes as witness the fact that the traveller observes that the character of the country is very much the same as that just passed, but not so arid, having much less alkali in the soil, but shows the effect of earthy action, volcanic disturbances and the ocean waters, which doubtless at some distant period covered the country back to the mountains, where there, in all probability, islands in that ancient ocean. Through the introduction of waters that section of the country, once so barren, is now covered with vineyards and plantations where nearly all kinds of tropical fruit is grown in the greatest abundance, and the people sit under their own vine and fig trees as in days of old. As the traveller journeys on again he comes into the south mining region, and the south table mountain stands before him as a gigantic sentinel, about fifteen hundred feet in height above the valley around him, and about half a mile wide by some twenty miles or more in length, indicating to him and us of to-day the great change which took place there at some period in ages since passed away. Judging from the appearance of the surrounding country it is quite evident that the whole of that great valley was submerged by the ocean waters several hundred feet deep, and South Table mountain, with its flat top, was at one time the level of the surrounding valley, and now stands there a monument of the great subsidence made by some extraordinary convulsion of nature. We now continue on up the coast and trek back to the Sierra Nevada mountains, and observe in this portion of the country many changes which no doubt have taken place through volcanic agency in connection with earthquake disturbances, more or less, in fine cities and towns, beautiful valleys, genial climate and many other attractions, we now enter Oregon, and in our wanderings there observe many changes similar to those further south, but the whole coast has been broken up at some period in the remote past, and doubtless was covered by the ocean which has left its salt marks in many places between the Rocky mountains and the coast as a proof to us of to-day that its waters had been there.

We now pass Oregon with its fine farms, stock ranches and orchards, and we enter Washington after a long journey from the south, and here we observe that the operations of nature are of very much the same kind as those further to the south, whilst many of the changes were doubtless made beneath the sea when the ocean waters covered that portion of the coast, leaving the Olympian range of mountains standing there as monuments of the mighty change which was brought about by some great convulsion of nature in order to carry out the design of nature's architect in all its details.

We have now arrived in British Columbia, a country of vast resources and a bright future before it. Here we observe that nature has put forth all her energy in breaking and tumbling up the country by earthquakes and volcanic outbursts in the very roughest manner possible. The islands of Vancouver and further north, Queen Charlotte Islands, which doubtless at some distant period formed a portion of the mainland of British Columbia, were broken off by some great convulsion of nature, and water ways made with narrow passages, and islands scattered along the whole distance up the coast, with long deep inlets which extend into the mainland for many miles, and on each side rugged, lofty, precipitous, hoary-headed mountains, thousands of feet in height, some of them doubtless at one time in past were volcanoes vomiting out their lava and lighting up the coast, which are now extinct, but have left their scar behind them in many places. The water ways then made by the subsidence and breaking up of the land are now used as the inland route of the steamers plying to and from the rich gold mines, copper mines, canneries and lumber industries of British Columbia and Alaska.

The Yukon and Alaska countries have both undergone great changes very much the same as those further south, by the breaking up of the earth's crust, substances of the land wearing away by water and other natural causes, which have changed the whole configuration of that country from what it in all probability was

To Be Presented at the Victoria Theatre Tuesday Evening.

At one period, and the climate as well, from tropical or semi-tropical, very suddenly to one of the coldest, bleak, desolate regions of the earth which it now is, but with all its drawbacks of frost and snow it is without any doubt the greatest gold region on the earth to-day.

What Caused the Change.

Having given a brief and superficial geological report of my observations along the Pacific coast from Mexico to Alaska, it will now be in order for me to state my opinion concerning the causes which have brought about such a mighty change in that portion of the earth. If we can judge by the marks and indications it has left behind, this extraordinary change of the earth's surface was in all probability caused by the greatest natural breakdown of the earth's crust which has ever occurred by the subsidence of an immense area of land, or I may say a great continent with subsequently smaller areas on islands in some portion of what is now called the Pacific ocean, or which in all probability millions of human beings existed, and possibly civilized at that time, were with all their arts and sciences, without warning, suddenly carried down with it and everything on it into the bowels of the earth, leaving an immense space in the earth's crust to be filled, which the ocean waters naturally rushed into, causing the waters to recede from off the land which surrounded it, and in its rush carrying along in the water mud, rock and debris of various kinds, which is called drift, grinding and grooving the bed rock in its course as it passed along to bury itself in the great rift made in the crust of the earth, leaving behind the marks of the rocks where its waters once stood, and its deposits of salt and alkali in various places from the Pacific ocean to the Rocky mountains and beyond, as a relic of that mighty natural change of ocean to land and land to ocean, which has ever taken place since the world existed.

Newspaper Advertising Builds Business

The business that does not advertise, like the sail boat without any wind, will never break any speed record—

Rusty Mike's Diary.

The Antediluvian Doubter

AROUND every city and town there is at least one business oracle, who will smoke tobacco, spit, and tell you that advertising does not pay. It seems that "The way it used to be done" germ gets into this man's system and creates such havoc with his ideas of business methods that he simply won't listen to a heart to heart talk about this, the greatest of all business building forces.

Just now there is talk about celebrating the first trip of the first successful steamboat in the history of the world. One can, in fancy, almost hear the comments of the doubters and the gossips at that time, and yet Fulton did run that steamboat, and to-day it's improvement is the recognized method of transportation of the world. It is a fact that Fulton's achievement was the basis of argument for every promoter of a perpetual motion machine for years to come, and those who picked the steamboat and rejected the perpetual motion machine merely showed the same kind of good business judgment that the man of to-day displays when he picks the genuine advertising and scorns the spurious article.

The Women's Trade

The women folks have learned to watch the papers.

Funny magazines, lecturers, would-be humorists, have belittled the woman in her effort to make the weekly allowance go as far as it will, but the fact is constantly before the student that the woman is the real economist.

When once you start your advertisement in the paper, the women of the community become your best friends or your worst enemies. Your first announcement, if it contains prices, brings them to inspect quality, and if your advertisement is truthful, to buy—but woe unto him who insinuates through his newspaper advertising that women are fools.

A Lesson in Proportion

The merchant who sells an article at a profit of 10c and sells twenty of them makes more money than the merchant who sells four articles at a profit of 25c. Certainly it is easier for a merchant to sell twenty articles at a profit of 10c than it is for a merchant to sell four at a profit of 25c if the first merchant lets the whole town know of the bargain.

The Right Medium

THERE is a time, certainly, when a man must decide for himself whether he is merely a sheep following a bell, or keeping to a well defined, successful business career. The bill-board, the programme, etc., are condemned and frowned upon by successful advertisers of to-day. Yet there are men who use these forms of advertising occasionally, and because of failure to get profitable returns, decry advertising, advertising men, and those who use it to build up their business.

More and more is the wonderful value of newspaper advertising becoming known and the almost unbelievable successes due to its use are being brought to light. Think, if you can, of a dozen of the world's greatest mercantile successes, and in that number you will find twelve users of newspaper advertising—a remarkable record, when you stop to think about it, regarded from two standpoints; one, that the public should be hoodwinked at times by the wailing of the non-advertiser that owing to the fact that he did not advertise, he could sell his goods cheaper; and the other that any merchant should attempt to do business without taking up one of the most essential helps in business building, newspaper advertising.

IN VIEW of these facts, which are very apparent, what argument can be made in favor of any advertising medium that it even distantly competes with the daily newspaper? The store-keeper who has enough business ability to buy goods right, and keep store profitably, must see the light, and realize that the telling of these facts to the people through the daily newspaper must bring success.

REMARKABLE FAMILY RECORD.

The managers of the Sheerness council schools have had their attention called to the remarkable attendance made by the family of a resident named Priesthood Hutchings. His daughter Bertha, who is leaving school at the age of 14, commenced attending at the age of three years, and has never missed an attendance or been late during the whole period of eleven years in which the schools have been opened—4,753 times. Another daughter, Ethel, was presented with a gold medal a few years ago as a reward for seven years' perfect attendance, and there are five other children of the family who have medals for similar records. The record of Bertha Hutchings is considered to be almost unique, and the council school managers have decided to ask the Kent education committee to make some official recognition of her remarkable punctuality.

INVESTITURE BY THE KING.

A Brave Stewardess Honored Among Other Recipients.

The King held at Buckingham Palace recently an investiture, at which he personally bestowed the insignia of various honors conferred on the occasion of his Majesty's birthday. The King wore military uniform, and was attended by the lords, gentlemen, and ladies in waiting, the lord chamberlain, the home secretary, the secretary of the board of trade, and the household staff generally.

The names of the recipients of honors were published on the occasion of his Majesty's birthday. They came in uniform and court dress, and were admitted at the grand entrance of the palace, where the King's marshmen were on duty, and they were conducted by officials of the lord chamberlain's department to the picture gallery, where the ceremony took place.

His Majesty and the members of his suite reached the apartment punctually at noon, the King's arrival being signalled by the playing of the National Anthem by the band of the Scots Guards, who, with a guard of honor of the same regiment, were stationed in the quadrangle in front of the palace.

Subsequently his Majesty received a number of men, a boy, and one lady, and bestowed upon them awards for gallantry in saving, or attempting to save, life by land and sea.

There were five recipients of the Albert medal of the second class, one recipient of the Edward medal, first class, and another of the Edward medal, second class, who all obtained their rewards for gallant action on land.

There were five recipients of the silver medals recommended by the board of trade for gallantry in saving life at sea, and nine bronze medals were also awarded for gallantry at sea.

An interesting feature of this presentation was the fact that Miss Kate Gilmour, who received a silver medal, was the first lady to whom it has ever been awarded. She was a stewardess on the SS. Sardinia, of Liverpool, which caught fire off the harbor at Malta on November 25th. A large number of European and native passengers were on board, including women and children. Eighty-three lost their lives by this disaster. Miss Gilmour was almost the last to leave the ship, and was the means of saving many lives by her coolness and courage.

FOUND MURDERED.

Search for Lost Irish Brings to Light Terrible Crime.

A tragedy similar to that which recently occurred in Mullingar has been discovered in Charlville, Co. Cork; a girl being the victim.
Two sisters named Gayer, daughters of a small shopkeeper at Pervagh, Co. Lim- ick, visited Charlville early one after- noon. They were about to leave for home when the elder girl, Bridget, aged eighteen, left her sister in the main street, presumably to do further shopping.
As she did not return her sister became anxious, and made a fruitless search, finally leaving for home, thinking Bridget might have gone with some neighbors. She was not at home, however, and mem- bers of the family made further search in the evening in Charlville without re- sult.
Days passed, and no tidings of the miss- ing girl were forthcoming; but her dead body has now been found in a dyke in a road half a mile from Charlville under conditions clearly indicating foul play. The spot is not visible from the thorough- fare. The body lay face downwards, and it appeared that it had been dragged some yards by the feet. The body was covered with long grass, and over this lay a young tree torn from the side of an ad- jacent fence.

FAMOUS SOCIETY HOSTESS.

Lady Sassoon, whose death is reported, was everywhere regarded as one of the best of society hostesses. Apart from a graceful personality, she had many gifts and accomplishments, and was particu- larly clever at drawing and painting, be- sides being a really good judge of art. When Sir Edward Sassoon succeeded to the title in 1885, he bought the showy residence in Park Lane, which once be- longed to the ill-fated Barney Barnato. Needless to say, he and his wife improved it incredibly. The Sassoons were for gen- erations a well known family in Bagdad—

SOCIALISTS DO NOT

TRUST M. BRIAND

Leader Accuses Premier of

France as Promoting Dissension in Ranks.

(By Charles P. Stewart, European Manager of the United Press.)
Paris, Aug. 14.—With his cabinet barely three weeks old, Premier Briand of France, is already in imminent danger of an adverse parliamentary vote which will force him out of office.
The fact is, M. Briand's ministry was a shaky one from the very moment of his appointment. He was long known as a radical of radicals and now that he has accepted office under a tacit pledge to be moderately conservative, his old Socialist friends consider him a traitor. On the other hand the moderate element doubts if he has undergone any real change of heart and is afraid of him.
So far as his avowed political views are concerned, Aristide Briand is probably the most advanced premier France has had since the foundation of the third republic. As what is known as an Independent Socialist, he is even in advance of the radical majority in the Chamber of Deputies. The dominant party there consists of so-called Radicals and Radical-Socialists.
A foreigner would naturally take a "Radical Socialist" to be a very fierce character, but really the label is in- tended to fit a coterie of peaceful, elderly lawmakers who are wholly bou- geois in their instincts. But the other Socialists, whether Independent or Uni- ted, are the real thing—nationalization of industry and all the rest.

All this, however, does not mean that M. Briand will do anything very "ad- vanced" unless he is satisfied that the country wants him to. He must make the Conservatives and the country at large forget that he was one of the in- ventors of the general strike; at the same time he must dodge the fierce at- tacks of Jaures, the Socialist leader, who accuses him of promoting dissen- sion in the Socialist ranks.
Premier Clemenceau, who preceded M. Briand, was a radical in his earlier years, too, but in his case the Conservatives forgave, as the indiscre- tions of youth, what Clemenceau him- self termed his early tendencies to "the wrong side of the barrier." M. Briand, however, only 44 years old and his past had not been forgotten.
In addition to the decidedly unusual difficulties of the present case, France is so notorious for quick-change minis- teries that one of the Paris newspa- pers suggested, at the time of a recent visit by a European sovereign, that the government might be doing the right thing in the way of entertain- ment unless it included a cabinet crisis in the programme. In the past 28 years there have been no less than forty-two ministries, to say nothing of numer- ous abortive attempts to form others.
Thirty of these were formed in the twenty years following President Thiers' resignation. Cabinets came and went with monotonous regularity, their average term being six to nine months. Between May, 1873, and May, 1874, the Duc de Broglie formed two distinct ministries and had a go at another one in 1877, which lasted six months. Gen. de Rochefort was ap- pointed Premier after the Duc's third effort, but only made his cabinet last fourteen days. Armand Fallieres, now president, did little better in 1883, when he formed a combination which lasted only fourteen days. The Tir- and cabinet, 1887-8, lasted three and one-half months, and Jules Simon managed to retain office two months longer than that. The shortest lived ministry in recent years, however, was Sarrien's, which existed from March 12 to October 19, 1896. Ex-President Lou- bet did well in hanging on for nine months in 1892. Casimir-Perier's cabi- net, which was formed in December, 1895, lasted in May, 1894, but that was only because Casimir-Perier was elected president.

In the past ten years, with the ex- ception of the Sarrien fiasco, French presidents have been more fortunate than for a long time before. Waldeck- Rousseau, Melne, Combes and Clem- enceau each remained in office more than two years.
Individual ministers are of course continually changing. The war de- partment holds the record, for during the Dreyfus crisis, four statesmen offi- ciated as its head in the space of a few many weeks, one of them holding his job for only thirty-six hours.
The excellent temperament of the French is responsible for these kaleid- oscopic changes. A cabinet's existence is also constantly threatened by cum- ingly devised "interpellations." One premier had to parry 120 such attacks in two years. A "vote of confidence" in the administration is almost a weekly necessity. When a minister has been in office for some time, his opponents and sometimes his associates, have no

LORD RIPON

He was very old, and he had retired from public life, and no one is forgot- ten so quickly as the politician. Yet when I looked at the benches in front of me at the Westminster Cath- edral the other day, I thought I had never seen so momentous and potent an array of men come together to do honor to the dead. Mr. Asquith was there; by his side, Mr. Haldane, the powerful minister for war; Sir Ed- ward Grey, the master of the foreign policy of the British Empire; and close by were Mr. Harcourt, Mr. Burns, and Mr. Samuel, the latest recruit of cabi- net rank. On the row of benches on the other side of the cathedral there were Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Mac- donald, his lieutenant in the defence of the budget. There were ambassa- dors from the various foreign coun- tries, and in front, on two scarlet chairs, sat two young peers—they were so distinguished in position because they represented the King and the Queen.

And yet, as I have said, the dead man was very old, and had ceased to be an active politician for some time, and the newspapers no more men- tioned his name; and already some of his great past had been forgotten by a generation which did not exist when he was in his prime. If, therefore, there was such testimony to his mem- ory, it was because of the man's splen- did work. I have met many politi- cians, of every nationality and of every school; I never met one who was so unmistakably, transparently honest as Lord Ripon.
Squat in figure, with a face that had no beauty, except the beauty of his astonishing sincerity and sweetness of character, with a long and straggling beard, with a single eye-glass in his eye, and with something of a wad- dling walk, he might well pass undis- tinguished in any crowd of English- men as representing an average type, of whom there are millions in this country. And yet he was grand seigneur to his finger-tips, and sometimes, in spite of the small stature, the squat figure, the single eyeglass, he looked the grand seigneur. He looked the grand seigneur, especially when he was speaking. The eyes, in spite of that awful eyeglass, were fine, and looked their finest when they were illumined by the concentrated thought, which comes when a man is speaking. They were, in ordinary life, he was typically English in his self-control and mod- esty of speech. There was a curious roll in the voice and in the utterance of the sentences that seemed curi- ously archaic and out of date in this prosaic and matter-of-fact age. It was the revelation of that passionate conviction and that intense feeling which lay concealed under the typical ex- terior of the stolid, self-controlled Englishman. And I can say that some- times when he was with you and knew that he was speaking to some- one who sympathized with him, the plain face, with the strongly marked features, looked positively handsome; it was the beauty of goodness, and what can be so beautiful in human face as that?—T. P. O'Connor, in M. A. P.

Obituary Speeches.
One of the most difficult tasks that falls to the lot of a leader of either House is the pronouncement of panegyrics on departed statesmen. On a historic occasion, I remember, Mr. Moore's avowed practice of taking his good things wherever he found them, got over the difficulty by incor- porating in the details of his lament a purple passage from a eulogy spoken by a French orator at the tomb of a great Frenchman.
Mr. Moore was at his best on these occasions. His panegyric on Peel, with its apt quotation of the splendid lines beginning, "Now is the stately column broke," is a precious possession. Prince Arthur touches a high level. C. B., who on more than one occasion joined him in paying tribute to the mighty dead, was in quite different style, a worthy compeer. The present Premier, called upon to bewail the passing of his predecessor, struck a note that surprised as it pleased the House by its genuine emotion expressed in terms of simple eloquence.
To-night, Crewe, rising to pay tri- bute to the memory of Lord Ripon, es- tablished a fresh claim on steadily growing esteem of a mercifully criti- cal assembly. His brief speech was

A GIANT STATUE.

Probably the largest piece of statuary of the Old World will be that of King Victor Emmanuel II. of Italy, to be erect- ed in Rome in September of this year. The immense statue will consist of the King astride a magnificent charger, and will stand about forty-five feet in height. The head of the King alone will be six feet high, and will weigh two tons. The weight of the whole statue will be about fifty tons. The sword which the King will grasp in his right hand is length. The great horse which figured so ma- terially in the downfall of ancient Troy was noted for its "internal capacity" for soldiers, and this statue of Italy's former King will be no less famed. Thirty people breakfasted at one time inside of the monster animal during the course of its construction.—Van Norden Magazine.

"Constipation for Three Years"

Had Dizziness, Bad Breath, Headaches, Bad Color, Poor Appetite.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills Cured Quickly

Those who doubt if constipation and chronic stomach trouble can be cured, need only read the striking testimony of Mrs. R. C. Curran, of Westport, to know that even if all else had failed, certain care attends the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.
"For full three years I have suffered the torture of biliousness, con- stipation and stomach disorders. I had terrible pains in my head. My ap- petite faded away and when I did eat anything it disagreed and made me very sick for hours after each meal. The active pains in my stomach and the dizzy headaches I had to endure almost set me wild. Some times at- tacks came on so severely that I had to go to bed. I would feel so worn, depressed and utterly miserable that for hours I wouldn't speak to my family. My system was poisoned with wastes and nothing helped me till I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Without this grand system-cleaning remedy I would still be sick, but each day brought me better health and spirits. I was cured and made as strong, ruddy and healthy looking as one could wish, and will always use and recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Thousands who are in an ailing, low state of health need nothing else but Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They cure blood disorders, pimples, rashes, bad color, biliousness, liver, stomach and kid- ney troubles. Most certain and safe. Beware of imitations and substitutes. 25c. per box or mail boxes for $1.00, at all dealers or The Catawba Company, Kingston, Ont."

STREET LINES MUST ## BE STRICTLY KEPT

When Engineer Gives Them
Citizens Must Adhere to Them.

The Metropolitan Methodist church trustees wrote the streets committee to ask permission to erect a fence on the old line, which is out on the street, the undertaking to put it back at any time the other fences on the street were ordered back.

This was at first blushed considered a very reasonable request by the committee last night, but Ald. Stewart made a vigorous protest against the city granting permission to do what was strictly forbidden by the by-laws. Ald. Henderson took the same view and on his motion the trustees were informed that it is outside council's power to grant their request, and that the street lines as given by the city engineer must be adhered to.

Ald. Bishop called attention to the way the sidewalk had been left at the corner of King's road and Quadra street, as a result of which a lady had had a nasty fall. He got a promise that it would be looked after; in fact, some attention has already been paid to it.

The Old Men's Home committee will consider a request from Oak Bay council for a strip of land alongside the Home property in order to construct a roadway from Cadboro Bay road to Oak Bay avenue.

Hon. Robert Beaven appeared before the committee in regard to the concrete sidewalk which is to be laid on the west side of Vancouver street from Pandora avenue to Humboldt street. He desires to lay concrete at his own expense between the proposed walk and his boundary fence, and naturally does not want to pay too large a sum, for which reason he suggested that the walk be placed a less distance than four feet from the line.

Ald. Turner explained that it would cost a great deal to place the walk close in, as a retaining wall would have to be built.

The committee promised to do its best and asked the engineer to look into the matter.

The selection of a site for a corporation yard will be made next week. Meanwhile the committee which has had in charge will furnish the aldermen with a list of sites offered so that they can visit these themselves. The mayor advocates utilizing the city's acre in the Spring Ridge gravel pits, and getting a couple of acres adjoining.

A question has arisen as to whether the shipment of brick for Wharf street which the Denny-Renton Co. is to deliver "at wharf in Victoria" is to be taken off the scows by the contractors for the paving, Sabine and Stevens, or placed on the wharf for them. The engineer is to try to arrange the matter.

NEW ARRIVALS IN TABLE LINENS

NEW NAPKINS AND CLOTHS JUST OPENED—NEW TOWELS, TOO

THIS morning witnessed the first showing of some beautiful table linens. A specially heavy run on table linens lowered our stock of these materials sooner than anticipated and for the past few days we have disappointed some customers; have been compelled to show a rather broken assortment. But it is different to-day—here's a big shipment of the daintiest linens, linen tabling, linen napkins and linen towels. Come in and see these and choose from the full line—choose while the choosing is best. These materials are fresh from Ireland—fresh from the looms of Ireland's foremost linen makers. We import direct, saving middlemen's profits and giving you the benefit in better values. Not in lower prices perhaps, but same prices and better qualities. See these by all means.
